Watchman Bound as Thugs Rifle 40 et 8 Club

Pinball Machines Looted

Wave of Thefts Nets Only $165

Creeping into his darkened bedroom at the 40 et 8 club, on Ashland road, early today, two thugs threatened 68-year-old watchman George Davidson at gun point, bound him, then rifled the club's pinball machines of between $70 and $80.

Davidson worked for nearly an hour to free his hands from the ropes with which the thugs had tied him. Getting loose, he called police at 2:[illegible] a. m. He said the burglars tied his hands behind his back.

He said one of the thugs, both described as in their late 20's, sat on the bed and held a gun on him while the other went to the recreation room where pinball machines were broken open. They then tied him up and left.

Hollis Moorhead, officer of the club, tod police the loot was between $70 and $80.

Police said three men were picked up for investigation a short time later, but that all were released.

BURGLARY WAVE

The club robbery headed the list of a wave of thefts, burglaries and car ransackings in the city last night. Police estimated the total cash stolen at $165.

Two burglaries of offices in the Blecker building, northeast corner of Fourth and Main street, were reported to police. Max Meisel, public accountant, told officers his office had been entered between 5:30 p. m. Monday and 9 a. m. Tuesday and that payroll checks of the Arrow Cab company, two fountain pens, valued at $17.50, and $1 worth of stamps had been taken.

Meisel said he believed the burlar hid in the office, as there were no signs of forcible entry.

Fifteen minutes after Meisel's report, Betty McKeehan reported that her Blecker building beauty shop had been entered between 7:30 p. m. and 11:15 p m. Monday and that $13 in change had been taken. She said she also believed someone hid in the office as there were no signs of forcible entry.

At 7:20 p. m. Robert Seitz, 287 Newman street, reported to police that $54 in a billfold had been taken from his trousers while he was taking a shower at the YMCA.

DOOR JIMMIED

Routine patrol of the Springmill street district early today turned up two attempted breakings-in in the neighborhood. At 1:22 a. m. police discovered a small piece of glass had been broken out of the door to the Hart Dairy store, 344 Cedar street. Police said entrance had not been gained although marks on the door indicated use of tools to open it.

Five minutes later, police found that the front door to the American News company, 550 Springmill street, had been jimmied open. Nothing, however, was reported missing.

Bill Williams, 259½ Rae avenue, reported early today that the certificate of title and registration for the car was taken from his unlocked car between 6 p. m. Tuesday and 5:45 a. m. today.

Young Girl Beaten In Mystery Attack

CLEVELAND —(INS)— Cleveland police searched today for the youthful mystery-attacker of a 17-year-old Cleveland high school girl.

The victim, Pauline Strake, a Collinwood high student, was beaten mercilessly about the head by the club-wielding youth as she returned home last night from a school band party.

Madame Chiang Arrives

WASHINGTON — (UP) — Mme. Chiang Kai-Shek arrived here today after an 11,000-mile flight from her homeland to plead for American help in China's desperate struggle against communism.

Several hundred persons at National airport gave her a "red carpet" welcome to the handsome, American-educated wife of the Chinese generalissimo. She came here aboard "the Sacred Cow," President Truman's former personal airplane. It landed at 10 A. M. EST.

As Mme. Chiang arrived reports from China said the communist invaders from the north were winning new victories and that the Nationalist government was making plans to abandon Kanking, its capital.

Mme. Chiang's visit was unofficial in the sense that she was not invited by the American government. It was motivated by her country's failing fight to stem the communist tide. On the basis of official Chinese statements she is expected to ask:

1. $1,000,000,000 in new U. S. military and economic help.
2. An official U. S. declaration of solidarity with China in the fight against communism in the far east.
3. Assignment of a high-ranking American general to direct Nationalist resistance to the communists.

After resting from her long trip, Mme. Chiang will press her campaign to persuade America that China and the entire far east can be saved from communism only by immediate and big scale U. S. aid.

Mme. Chiang will be a guest at the Leesburg avenue, home of Secretary of State and Mrs. George C. Marshall. But while in Washington she will stay at the home of T. S. Shih, commercial attache of the Chinese embassy.

A brother of Mme. Chiang, T. L. Soong, a New York business man, and a niece, Miss Loraine Soong, greeted her on arrival.

Milk Price Drop Seen

Mansfielders can expect another one-cent cut in the price of milk soon.

Two Cleveland dairies announced yesterday their milk prices will go down to 19 cents a quart. Other dairies in Cleveland are expected to follow. Cleveland price reductions usually have resulted in a corresponding cut in Mansfield's milk prices.

The Cleveland price cut in milk will be the second within a month. Less than a week after the Cleveland price dropped to 20 cents a quart in mid-November the Mansfield price went down.

Mansfield dairymen withheld comment until they had time to confer with their suppliers.

Mansfield milk prices hit a high last August when the price went to 22 cents a quart. Two one-cent reductions, the last one Nov. 16, brought home delivered milk to 20 cents.

200 Hunters Killed In U. S.

CHICAGO—(AP)—At least 110 persons in 21 states have been killed so far this season by gunfire while hunting deer.

Other fatalities in connection with the deer hunting trips—drownings, auto accidents and heart ailments — boosted the death toll to more than 200.

The gunfire toll probably will surpass last year's, when 141 hunters were fatally shot. In some states this year's hunting season has not ended or has not begun.

Hearing Continued

COLUMBUS.—(UP)—A hearing before the Ohio Public Utilities commission on a Bell Telephone Co. petition for a nine per cent statewide rate increase was continued today until Dec. 16 to enable 15 communities to prepare their cases against the request.

Remembered Mansfield As Village

Mrs. Sturges, Friend of Great, Dies At 97

By EILEEN DEWHURST

One of Mansfield's oldest residents, Mrs. Henry Hale Sturges, 97, died at her home, 170 West Second street, last night. Mrs. Sturges had been confined to her bed for a number of years after suffering a fall.

She was born at Bedford, Ind., Jan. 3, 1851, and went to live in Cincinnati when she was a small child. She came to Mansfield as a bride in 1874 when she was 23 years old.

To Mrs. Sturges history was a living thing, for she knew some of the most famous people in history books.

As a young girl she attended school in Cannstadt, Wurtemburg, Germany, and was a roommate of Rosa Gladstone, daughter of William Gladstone, premier of England and adviser to Queen Victoria. Mrs. Sturges spent her vacation and holidays at the Gladstone home in London and remembered carriage rides with the famous statesman.

KNEW ARTIST

At the age of 15 she went to France to study and there she met some of the great literary and art figures of France, including Rosa Bonheur, the painter.

She recalled how, when she was in France, she curtsied before the Empress Eugenie. While in Germany she watched King Wilhelm, who was later the first emperor of the German empire, and Chancellor Otto Von Bismarck ride past her schoolroom window.

Mrs. Sturges also used to tell how she rolled bandages for German soldiers in the Franco-Prussian war of 1870 during her school days in Germany.

She also recalled her first days in Mansfield when the first house built on the square was still standing and the present county courthouse was under construction.

But, although Mrs. Sturges had many memories of the past, she liked to live in the present and kept a young outlook on life. Several of her best friends were young people she had met in her later life.

MRS. HENRY HALE STURGES . . . succumbs at 97

GRANDCHILDREN

She is survived by seven grandchildren, Hale Sturges of Cleveland, Braddock Sturges of Milton, Mass., Roscoe Sturges of Baltimore, Md., Edward Sturges of North Hampton, Mass., Mrs. Morris Bradley of Gates Mills, Paul E. Sturges jr., and Richard B. Sturges, both of Mansfield; and six great-grandchildren.

Rev. Samuel U. J. Peard, rector of Grace Episcopal church, will conduct funeral services at the church at 1 p. m. tomorrow. Burial will be in Mansfield cemetery.

Friends may call at the Finefrock funeral home until time of services.

Backs Mass Picketing

'Phase of Speech' Says Examiner

WASHINGTON —(INS)— A National Labor Relations board trial examiner today classified peaceful mass picketing as a "phase of speech" protected by the Taft-Hartley law's free-speech clause.

The examiner, Charles W. Schneider, also held that picketing "in unusual numbers" doesn't violate the labor statute if it is not accompanied by restraint or coercion of non-strikers.

He ruled specifically that peaceful picketing is "the expression of view, argument or opinion," and therefore legal.

Schneider pointed to the free speech provision in the Taft-Hartley act to support his conclusion. This section states:

"The expressing of any views . . . in written, printed, graphic, or visual form, shall not constitute . . . an unfair labor practice . . . if such expression contains no threat of reprisal or force."

Schneider's decision thrusts squarely on the five-man NLRB the knotty problem of whether peaceful picketing runs afoul of the 1947 labor-management act.

Recount Completed

AKRON, — (INS) — Mrs. Catherine Dobbs apparently is "in" finally and officially as state senator from the five-county district surrounding Akron. The Barberton democrat still led veteran State Senator Frank E. Whittemore by 56 votes when the Summit county recount was completed yesterday.

Dream Comes True—Partially

Novel Thief Enjoys Brief Crime Spree

JACKSONVILLE, Fla.—(AP)—It began as a $70,000 dream—then it went kerplunk.

Here's the way it happened:

Jack Bowers, a 51-year-old carpenter, dreamed he robbed a bank of $70,000. The dream put notions into his head. He opened an account at the Barnett National bank and got a key to the night depository.

Then he made a gadget from a Hart-stretcher and two boards. Saturday night he set out to make his $70,000 dream come true.

He unlocked the door to the night depository, slipped the gadget in, and watched from a distance.

A depositor tossed some money bags down the chute, and left. Bowers fished them out. Two other late depositors also plumped in more money bags. Bowers fished them out also. It was that easy.

He left and counted his loot—$552.96 in cash and about $900 in checks. Bowers threw the checks into the St. Johns river and went back for another whirl with his gadget.

An excited crowd was milling around the night depository. Someone had discovered the gadget in the chute, so Bowers took off on the double.

A bystander, however, noticed his excitement, and gave his description to the police, who lost no time in picking him up. Some of the cash was in his pockets and some in a tool chest.

In federal court yesterday, Bowers sorrowfully admitted it all and pleaded guilty to violating the federal bank robbery act.

Federal Judge Dozier Devane will pronounce sentence Friday.

Death Delay Irks Tojo

TOKYO —(INS)— Hideki Tojo was disclosed today to have voiced his "disgust" over the delay in the executions of the "Pearl Harbor premier" and his six condemned colleagues.

Japan's number one war criminal was quoted as having reiterated the hope that he would be hanged as quickly as possible.

The ex-premier's wife said Tojo, while awaiting his rendezvous with the gallows, is "taking every precaution against catching cold in order that he may die in a manly warrior's way."

Madame Tojo quoted her husband as saying: "When I die I will enter a new world where I shall be able to look after you more than before."

Civic Music Members Hear Great Music

Overflow Crowd Lauds Orchestra

By MARGUERITE MILLER

An interpretative genius in the person of a tall, regal Scot last night gave Mansfield Civic Music association patrons one of the finest symphonic concerts ever heard in the city.

He was Reginald Stewart, famed director of the Baltimore Symphony orchestra. The orchestra appeared here in the second concert of the winter series in John Simpson auditorium.

But Mansfielders had an apology to the musicians and their leader. Once again, perhaps a bit more pointedly, it was proved that the city's stages cannot accommodate a large symphony.

Not one of the curtains on the stage could be used for the background. Even the front curtain was, of a necessity, pulled back to allow more musicians to fill the front wings and overflow onto the apron of the stage. Because the musicians filled the entire stage, the back drop was dispensed with to allow the bass viol players to take their proper places. Some of the players sat in semi-darkness.

It was a packed house that heard and appreciated the concert last night. Not a vacant seat was to be found in the auditorium 10 minutes before the concert began — either on the first floor or in the balcony. Overflow of the crowd was accommodated by folding chairs, placed to the rear of the downstairs seats.

Fighting Ceases In Jerusalem

U. S. Backing Gift to Arabs

JERUSALEM — (INS) — A formal Arab-Jewish truce went into effect in Jerusalem at 1 a. m. (EST) today, bringing peace to the Holy City and new hope for a Palestine-wide armistice.

Arab and Israeli military commanders in the Holy City signed the formal agreement yesterday in the presence of UN observers, who described the cease-fire as "complete and sincere."

For Jerusalem's battle-weary residents, the pact promises a respite from the incessant mortar shelling and rifle fire that has made life in the Holy City a nightmare for over a year.

Jewish inhabitants saw the Jerusalem agreement as a good omen for the fledgling state of Israel. News of its signing coincided with the disclosure that the United Nations security council will discuss Israel's membership application on Thursday.

In Paris, meanwhile, the United States endorsed today a British proposal that Israel yield either part of the Negev or western Galilee to the Arabs.

Russian Delegate Semyon K. Tsarapkin immediately charged there is an Anglo-American "deal" to aid Trans-Jordan's King Abdullah.

He attacked the U. S.-British agreement on a Palestine settlement resolution as a bargain strengthening Abdullah's "puppet state" of Trans-Jordan by giving it the Arab areas of Palestine.

U. S. Delegate M. Dean Rusk told the United Nations political committee the British resolution, which also calls for internationalization of Jerusalem, Haifa and the Lydda airport, is a "serious and on the whole successful effort to meet the views of the U. S. and other delegations."

"No party should expect to obtain all the advantageous features of both the November (partition) resolution and the Bernadotte report," he said.

Finds Sewer Issue Failed

Solicitor Holds 65 Per Cent Needed

The 1948 edition of the proposed $500,000 sewer bond issue was laid to rest today.

City Solicitor C. J. Kalbfleisch said he had conferred with Prosecutor Theodore Lutz on the question of whether the bond issue needed 60 or 65 per cent of the vote to pass, and found "There is no question that 65 per cent is needed to pass the issue," Kalbfleisch said.

The measure received 10,026, or 64.66 of the votes cast at the Nov. 2 general election. The question of what percentage was needed for passage revolved around the interpretation of a state law on the subject.

Meanwhile, Kalbfleisch said he has not prepared an answer to a letter from Mayor Roy W. Vaughn as to whether the sewer bond issue can be re-introduced at the May primary or whether it must wait until next November's general election.

Mayor Vaughn said the money is sorely needed for rehabilitating the storm and sanitary sewer systems and a bond issue is the only way to get the funds. He said he planned to recommend that council put the issue on the ballot for a second time.

DEFIANCE, — (UP) — A state sanitation engineer indicated today that all Ohio communities may be compelled to construct sewage treatment plants under provisions of a law expected to be passed at the next session of the state legislature.

CONDITION SERIOUS

NEW YORK —(AP)— Miss Ruth Waldo, 30, former secretary to the mayor of Columbus, Ohio, still was in a coma today as the result of what police called a sucide attempt. Bellevue hospital listed her condition as serious.

Bandit Adds Final Touch To Robbery

DAYTON — (INS) — A bandit who added insult to injury in robbing a Dayton drugstore was sought by police today.

Druggist Weden E. Dafler said he and his clerk left the store for the night when he ran into the gunman, who "acted like it was all in the day's work."

The bandit forced Dafler to return to the store, go to the basement, unlock the safe, and hand over the $900 it contained. Then the bandit poured 25 pounds of sugar on the basement floor to get a sack in which to carry his loot.

Alaska Set For All-Out Development

Administration 'Ready to Roll'

WASHINGTON — (INS) — Secretary of the Interior Krug disclosed today that the Truman administration is "ready to roll" on all-out development of Alaska as an economic and military bulwark.

The cabinet member made the statement in an exclusive interview with International News Service. Krug pinpointed the interior department's chief objectives for the coming four years.

He declared that with a "friendly congress" in power, 1949 probably will see Alaska and Hawaii admitted to the union as the 49th anad 50th states.

The secretary added:

"We're really ready to roll on the economic development of Alaska. We plan complete rehabilitation of the Alaska railroad, construction of a huge road network, and projects designed to tap vast storehouses of mineral and other resources.

"The time has come for establishment of many basic industries in Alaska—such as pulp and paper plants.

"The interior department is working hand-in-hand with the military on the Alaska program. The territory is vital to our national security. Our experience in World War II proved that it must be populated, that communications facilities must be created, and that it must be made economically powerful."

Krug indicated that Congress will be asked to open Alaska's gates to thousands of European displaced persons.

He pointed out that many DP's are fitted, by reason of national background and vocational training, to live healthily and prosperously in Alaska.

Boy Saves Lives of 2 Ohio Fliers

MOUNT aSTERLING, Ky. — (INS)—Two Hillsboro, Ohio, men probably owe their lives today to the quick-wittedness and the strong legs and lungs of a Kentucky high school freshman.

The Ohioans are Oren H. Layman and Hyman Collins, who were flying home from a trip "down south" Monday night. Layman, the pilot, discovered that sleet and ice had befogged the windows of the light plane so he could see very little.

Fifteen-year-old George "Dutch" Ensor heard the plane's motor and concluded the aircraft and pilot was in trouble. Ensor took his two-cell flashlight; flicked his light on and off until he attracted the attention of the men in the plane. Then he began to run. . . .

The boy ran around the borders of the four-acre field holding his light upward until the pilot could understand the outlines of his landing field, and then up and down the center of the field indicating the path the plane should take in landing.

Layman, desperate, watched and understood and came in on the beam of his plane's landing lights and trust in a tiny flashing beam held by an unknown person.

WOULD RAISE PAY

COLUMBUS—(INS)—A proposal to increase payments to nearly 2,000 totally disabled Ohio workmen was advanced today by Lt. Gov. Paul M. Herbert.

Police Occupy City Hall

'Big Three' Raps Putsch

BERLIN — (AP) — Communists took over complete control today of the Berlin city hall, which lies in the Soviet sector.

Russian-controlled German police barred the acting mayor of the legally elected anti-communist government of Berlin from his office in the city hall.

This display of force followed up the putsch yesterday in which Berlin communists named their own rump city administration.

The acting mayor is Ferdinand Friedensburg, a Christian Democrat. Five officers of the Russian-controlled police stopped him at the door when he sought to enter his office at the city hall.

Communist Friedrich Ebert, whom the communists "elected" mayor unanimously in their controlled convention yesterday, later entered for conferences with his chief of the city economics department, Karl Maron.

The division of the city prompted some German anti-communist leaders to renew a demand that the United States, Britain and France make the western mark the sole legal money for western Berlin.

Friedensburg and a few other elected officials had retained offices in the city hall after riotous communist demonstrators had driven the anti-communist city assembly and most other officials to western Berlin, which is occupied by the United States, Britain and France.

Friedensburg's aim was to maintain at least the symbol of a central administration for this divided city as long as possible.

Now the communists apparently are putting a halt even to that fiction and taking over in force.

MAYOR 'DISMISSED'

The Russian-controlled ADN news agency said police barred Friedensburg because "he has been dismissed as mayor and entrance to the city hall is now barred to all members of the former magistrat (government) and their offices are locked."

The mayor of Berlin is Mrs. Louise Schroeder, 61. She has been handicapped by illness. Friedensburg has served for her.

Meanwhile the Big Three western powers have warned they may act to counter Russian attacks on their position in Berlin.

The warning was expressed in a joint note handed to Juan A. Bramuglia, outgoing president of the U.N. Security council, soon after the communists split Berlin yesterday by naming their own rump government.

The note was made public today.

France, Britain and the United States declared they could not stand idly by while the Russians intensified their blockade and attempts to force the western Allies out of the city.

The note gave no hint of what counter-action the western powers might take and delegation officials had no comment on possible steps.

Death Claims Journalist

WASHINGTON—(AP)— Frank B. Noyes, 85, one of America's pioneer newspaper leaders, died today.

Noyes, who helped organize the present Associated Press and served 38 years as its first president, had been in failing health for some time. But until last winter he had taken an active hand in the management of the Washington Evening Star, as its president and chairman of the board of directors.

A practicing journalist for more than 60 years, Noyes actually began his newspaper career at the age of six—selling extras upon President Grant's first inauguration. The years that followed saw him rise to the top in the Washington and Chicago newspaper fields, with national prominence resulting from his contributions to the Associated Press.

SHIPS FINALLY SAIL

LONDON—(INS)—Two of Britain's fog-bound luxury liners—the Queen Elizabeth and the Aquitania—took advantage of clearing skies today and steamed out of Southampton harbor for New York.

Colceri's Top Ohio Gridder

By FRITZ HOWELL
Ohio AP Sports Editor

COLUMBUS—A kid with a broken collar bone is Ohio's No. 1 high school football star of 1948.

The youngster, who hasn't decided where he'll go to college but who probably will have scores of offers in the next few weeks, is John Colceri of Canton McKinley.

Colceri, 18-year-old 180-pound halfback who stands five feet 10 inches, was voted the top spot today by Ohio's coaches and sports writers in the annual poll conducted by the Associated Press.

PLAYS LONG TIME

The Stark county stalwart, playing in nine of the 10 Bulldog games—all the winning ones—scored 21 touchdowns and extra points for a 128-point total. He was almost a 48-minute player, an excellent open field runner, a good plunger and a sturdy line backer.

Of his 21 touchdowns, only nine were made from within the 16-yard line, and four were for more than 50. In 169 tries from scrimmage he gained 1,381 yards, a single-handed average of 153 yards per game. He missed the final game against Massillon, the only Bulldog loss, because of his broken bone.

Colceri was a standout for the "one-man gang" laurels, but he had more than a little opposition from such stars as Jim (Boxcar) Bailey, Hamilton's fine ball-toter; Dick Shuff of Mt. Vernon, Chet Grob of Lakewood, Bob Koepnick of Dayton Chaminade, and Don Zimmer of Cincinnati Western Hills. The voters nominated 28 players for the "most valuable" award.

MATHER TOP COACH

The "coach of the year" award also wound up in Stark county, in the capable hands of Charles (Chuck) Mather, mentor of the Massillon Tigers—the state's top team.

Mather was a "four to one" choice of his brother coaches and newspapermen for the top spot, with heaviest opposition coming from Bup Rearick of Canton McKinley, Chuck Thackera of Hamilton, Ralph Ness of Lakewood, "Fuzzy" Faust of Dayton Chaminade, Ray Schick of Newark, and Eddie Wentz of Akron St. Vincent. Seventeen coaches were mentioned in the contest.

In an informal poll made in connection with the All-Ohio voting, Mather was favored by almost two-to-one this year to coach the northern all-stars, with Rearick second and Ness third. The southern all-star choice wound up in a deadlock between Thackera of Hamilton and Glenn (Tiger) Ellison of Middletown, with Jim McDonald of Springfield and Schick of Newark deadlocked for second.

Doak Walker Wins Heisman Football Trophy of 1948

NEW YORK —(INS)— The downtown Athletic club announced today that Doak Walker, Southern Methodist university backfield star, will be awarded the 1948 Heisman trophy as the outstanding college football player in the country.

Walker, the first junior ever to win the 14-year-old award, will receive the trophy at a banquet at the downtown A. C. Dec 7.

The nation's sportswriters and broadcasters voted Walker in with an avalanche of 778 ballots, compared with 443 polled by Charles Justice, North Carolina back who was runnerup.

Chuck Bednarik, Pennsylvania center, was third with 336 votes

Walker finished third in 1947 balloting to Johnny Lujack, of Notre Dame, and Bob Chappuis, of Micigan, but this season clinched the award by leading in the balloting in the Midwest, Southwest and Far West.

Two Gridders Get Trophies

ASHLAND — Phil Lersch jr., Ashland, and Larry Etzwiler, Loudonville were given top honors at the annual Ashland Booster club banquet when the two were awarded trophies as "Most Valuable Player" of the Ashland high school and Ashland college football teams.

Lersch was selected by a committee of 28 athletic fans, high school coaches, school executives, fellow players and the booster club executive board

Etzwiler, captain-elect of the 1948 Ashland college team, was chosen by his teammates

The banquet featured an address by Richard Larkins, OSU athletic director.

4 Seniors Listed On Starting 5

Madison high school's basketball team which will take the floor Friday night against Shelby will be a far cry from last year's district champions, but Coach Blaine Dowler has hopes that it may not be too long before there is some resemblance.

"Not one of the boys won a letter last year," explains Dowler, "but in a way that is a good thing. They are all starting on equal footing and all have to work hard and fight for their jobs."

NAMES STARTERS

Dowler named a starting lineup for the game in the Madison gym which has an average height of about five feet, 11 inches. Dutch Bader, 6-1, is at center, with Jim Brightbill and Joe Distl, both 5-11, at forward, and Ed Chelski, 5-10, and Larry Secrist, 5-8, at guards. All are seniors except Chelski who is a sophomore.

Gene Riblet is listed as second string center but will likely step into the position of any boy who falters. Others on the second team are Eugene Yahn and Skip Constance, forwards, and Dave Davies and Norm Hughes, guards.

Friday's game will get under way at approximately 8:30 p. m., following a 7:30 preliminary between reserve teams of the two schools.

Football Coach Ennis Walker has been working with the freshmen and sophomores who make up the reserve team and has several comers.

BEST OF LOT

Best of the lot appears to be Center Kenny Woerth, a sophomore who played his first basketball one week ago, and tiny "Mighty Mite" Strang. Strang is a sprite of a freshman who stretches to four-feet-ten and weighs 97 pounds soaking wet. Yet he is a cool little ball handler and one of the main offensive threats of the team.

Others who will start for the reserves are Marty Keipp and Bill Motayave at forwards and Jake Radojcisic at guard.

One game has been added to the Madison schedule: Jan. 18, at Fredericktown.

Shelby Court Five Opens Up With Triumph

SHELBY — Shelby high school opened its 1948-49 basketball season last night by taking a thrilling 54-to-50 victory over Fostoria.

After a close first half, Shelby swept into a 41-to-30 lead as the third quarter opened. The Whippets had led at half-time, 25 to 23.

With Cotter making half of his 22 points in the fourth quarter, the visitors outscored Coach Charles Williams Shelby squad, 20 to 13. They never got closer than the final four-point margin, however.

Dick Utz led the Shelby cagers with 19 points. Carlos Jackson, Fostoria ace, was held to eight. Fostoria won the reserve contest, 30 to 26. Johnny McHugh made 13 points for Shelby.

Eleven Teams Land Men On All-America

By TED SMITS, AP General Sports Editor

NEW YORK—(AP)—Despite college football's continued trend in 1948 towards subordinating the individual to the team, heroic performers stood out across the land to constitute the Associated Press All-America.

But unlike All-Americas of recent years, no college in 1948 contributes more than one man to the first eleven, not even those great power teams, Michigan and Notre Dame.

Three 1947 first team men are back—Bill Fischer of Notre Dame at tackle; Chuck Bednarik of Pennsylvania at center; and Doak Walker of Southern Methodist in the backfield.

Geographically the All-America reflects the middle west's domination of the sport. Four from the first team come from that area, two from the east, two from the south, two from the southwest, and one from the Pacific coast.

AGREE ON FIVE

Virtually all the several hundred Associated Press staff writers, newspaper sports editors and broadcasters who joined in nominating the team agreed on five men—Dick Rifenburg of Michigan at end, Buddy Burris of Oklahoma at guard, Halfback Charlie Justice of North Carolina, Fischer and Walker.

The rest of the first team members had sharper competition for their posts—Barney Poole of Mississippi at end, Leo Nomellini of Minnesota at tackle, Rod Franz of California at guard, Bednarik at center and Backs Bobby Jack Stuart of Army and Art Murakowski of Northwestern.

Michigan, Notre Dame and California, rightfully, are the only teams to place men on more than one team. In addition to Rifenburg at first team end, Michigan is represented in the second team backfield with its sophomore sensation, Charles Ortmann, of whom great things are predicted.

Back of Notre Dame's Fischer is Emil Stiko in the second team backfield and Leon Hart at third team end, all sterling performers.

California's Jack Jensen, a highly regarded back, is on the third team with Franz on the first.

Sharpest argument this year over bestowing All-Americt honors centered on the merit of recognizing men who played only offense or defense under the spreading "two platoon" system.

Separate defensive and offensive All-America first teams were proposed. Should the present cleavage widen this could become a possibility. For the present, however, to deny acclaim to men such as Justice, Rifenburg and Stuart merely because they were used primarily on offense seems unfair. All are great enough athletes to play defense if needed.

The rest of the first team is made of men used throughout the game.

As might be expected at the end of a highly successful college football season during which no first rate team went unscored on, and the greatest emphasis was put on offense, contention for backfield honors was keen.

The entire second team backfield—Clyde Scott of Arkansas, Ortmann of Michigan, Sitko of Notre Dame, and Johnny Rauch of Georgia—is of first team caliber.

Joe Whisler and Jerry Krall, Ohio State backfield men, received honorable mention.

Appleseed Opens Basketball Slate Against Union 5

Johnny Appleseed junior high school will open its basketball season on the home floor tomorrow afternoon, when it entertains the Union high reserves in a pair of games.

The first game, featuring the Appleseed eighth graders against the Union second-stringers, will start at 3:30 p. m. The ninth-graders and Union reserve regulars will take over for the feature.

Coach Jimmy Lymper's varsity team is composed of Johnny Auer, 5-6, and Bud Montgomery, 5-10, at guards; Joe Diemer, 5-11, at center, and Fred Zahn, 5-5, and Butch Schwein, 5-6, forwards.

The eighth grade team will have Bill Turner at center, Jerry Howell at one forward and Bob Diemer at one guard, while Ned Diemer and Bruce Doner are fighting it out for the other forward job, and John McBride and "Butch" Brandt for the other guard post.

Lexington Edges Bellville Cage Team, 47-45

Plymouth, Ontario, Union Win Games

By CHARLEY STINE

LEXINGTON—A big, polished Lexington high school basketball team established itself as the "one to beat" in the Richland county league as it edged its arch-rival, Bellville, 47-45, here last night.

The victory was sweet for the Minutemen, who were out to avenge an upset by Bellville in county tournament play last year.

The game was close all the way at the lead changed hands four times and was tied five. Bellville took an early lead but Lexington caught fire early in the second quarter, changing a 14-9 score against it to 19-14 in its favor. The Blue Jays recovered and it was a ding-dong battle down to the wire.

The Minutemen quite definitely controlled both backboards, while Bellville used speed as the chief weapon in its offense. Difference in amount of time spent on basketball may have had a slight effect on the score.

Lexington was playing its fifth ball game, four of which have been victories. Bellville, on the other hand, lacked the smooth teamwork which comes from long practice, as it was playing its first game.

Individual scoring honors went to Bellville's Bill Smith, a sure candidate for all-county honors who had 16 points. Smith had his fifth personal foul called as he rammed home a lay-up shot with three minutes to go in the final period.

PLAY MAJOR PART

Fouls played a major part in the game as the Blue Jays' Jim Fry, and Lexington's Tom Tupps and Jim Wirick were also ejected for five personals. Lexington converted on 11 out of 20 free throws while Bellville made good on only nine out of 19.

Lexington won the reserve game, 43 to 20. Fred Ford had 14 of the winners' points.

Howell Calls School Sports Last Frontier

LOUDONVILLE—"High school athletics are the last frontier of amateur sports in the country."

So said Fritz Howell last night at the annual Loudonville high sports banquet in the school gymnasium. The well-known humorist, who doubles as Ohio sports editor of the Associated Press, went on to say that "the youngsters get nothing out of football—except satisfaction."

Howell at times strolled from his wealth of humorous material and "got serious." He said that three things go into the makeup of a great athlete: "Belief in your own mind that the sport is worthwhile to you, the school and the community; an intense desire—so intense that nothing else matters; and third, the know-how or ability."

PRAISES TEAM

Calling this area of Ohio "the football hot-bed of the country," Howell praised the Loudonville team which won seven and lost two to tie Bellville for the Mohican football league title.

Coach Elmer Boyer presented letters to 18 varsity players and 20 members of the reserve squad. The varsity monogram winners were: Capt. Dick Pinkley, Tom Ellis, Wayne McClure, John Ulman, John Gardner, Bill Remington, Bob Poller, Oliver Vaughan, Bob Palmer, Jim Tschantz, Carl Young, Richard Peoples, Bill Foster, Bob Workman, Gerald Cowan, Bill Porter, Gene Burgess and John Hay.

Managers Bob Cowan, Jimmy Currens and Dick Porter also were awarded letters. Cheerleaders honored included Nancy Mosher, Howard Nave, Shirley Cline, Bonnie Gray, Donna Grabau and Caroline Roach. Other honored guests were Rex Kerr, Eugene Harsh and Charles Biggler, who won letters in other sports.

BIGGEST THRILL

H. M. Wiggins acted as toastmaster. He called Loudonville's 19-to-6 victory over Mansfield Madison "the biggest thrill of the season."

The "Ditty-A-Teers" — George Haudenschild and Marvin Vaughan, vocalist and guitarist—topped the entertainment program.

Mel Porter, vice-president of the Loudonville booster club, presented a motion picture camera to the high school. The camera will be used to photograph grid games next fall. Chuck Burgess, Elmer Young and Bus Schneider were elected to the club's board of directors.

National Loop Opens Tonight

The Class B National basketball league will open its season with three games tonight at Senior high school gym.

AVC will meet Home Materials in the league opener at 7 p. m., while two self-sponsored clubs, the Independents and Salesmen, collide at 8. Au Construction, made up almost entirely of Senior high football players, will tangle with Four Square Gospel in the nightcap.

Frank Mitsch's, the league favorites, hold a bye and will not play until next week. The team is built around last year's Madison high district champions.

PASS PRACTICE?—Pete Dorset, star passing quarterback of the Cornell football team, can fling the leather lemon accurately in any medium and at any speed. To prove it he rides a pair of water skis while holding the pigskin in one hand and the tow bar in the other. In this post-season session Pete has his eyes closed and one ski out of the water.

Donnenwirth Flips Plymouth to Win

LUCAS — Desmond Donnenwirth poured 26 points through the nets here last night to pace Plymouth to a 34-31 victory over the host Lucas high quintet.

Donnenwirth easily made himself the league's leading scorer as he racked up ten field goals and six fouls.

A third quarter comeback by Lucas tied the score at 24-all as the fourth period started, but Donnenwirth and Plymouth turned on the head. Lucas won the reserve game, 20-17.

Navy's Tom Hamilton Gets First Crack At Pitt Post

PITTSBURGH — (AP) — Capt. Tom Hamilton had a choice of jobs today—he can remain as Athletic Director of the U. S. Naval Academy or become all-around sports boss of the University of Pittsburgh.

Just as most everyone had predicted, Hamilton yesterday was offered the job of Pitt Director of Physical Education and Athletics a brand new position combining the athletic directorship with that of physical education.

And with the position goes the task of bringing Pitt back to athletic glory—particularly to the place of prominence it formerly occupied among the nation's football powers.

VACANT SINCE JULY

The athletic directorship has been vacant since last July when the veteran Jimmy Hagan resigned to climax a series of investigations over Pitt's declining athletic fortunes particularly on the gridiron.

Chancellor Rufus H. Fitzgerald, who announced the selection, said later Hamilton will come here by plane Thursday to look over the situation.

Like most married men who have an important decision to make, Tom will talk it over with his wife Mrs. Hamilton will accompany her husband to Pittsburgh.

As far as the Navy's concerned Hamilton can retire any time he wishes. A Navy official at Washington explained he has accumulated enough service to go on the retirement list.

Perrysville 5 In Close Win

DANVILLE — With Snuffy Smith sparking the final drive, Perrysville put on a story book finish to eke out a 37-36 decision over Danville.

Coach Woodburn's Perrysville cagers saw a 12-point lead disappear and were trailing by one point when Smith shot one from far out as the buzzer sounded.

Herb Brown also scored 14 points for Perrysville.

The reserve game was won by Perrysville 16-14.

Career Ends

LOS ANGELES —(U.P.)— The racing career of Shannon II, greatest Australian thoroughbred to come to these shores since Phar Lap, reached an abrupt close today with his sale to a Kentucky syndicate that intends placing him in stud immediately.

Charles Roby Leads Maple Barrage With 620 Score

Only one 600 score was recorded last night as six leagues competed at the Colony and Richland Recreation center bowling alleys.

Charles Roby chalked up the respectable 620 count on games of 207, 231 and 182. Second honors went to Wayne Anthony of the same circuit with 205-216-175—596.

Other high Elks' league scores follow: Paul Herlihy, 222-149-215—586; William Hahn, 184-171-196—551; Lou Piller, 183-184-181—548 and R. Vaughn, 202-171-169—542.

★

Andy Bessler, Teamsters, was the top man in the Colony's Transportation loop with 182-191-218—591 followed by John Miner, Dominion Electric, 197-167-210—574. Third spot went to W. Sundell, National Life, with 157-185-202—544.

D. Bachman, Geiger Distributing, had 177-155-210—542, and Anthony Augustine, Commercial Motor, 179-171-181—531.

Shady Forsythe had a 222 and Don Handwark, 218, in the single game department. Geiger led the teams with 765-951-858—2,574.

★

Lead in the Mansfield Tire league went to Skeets Wolf with a 211-170-190—571. The other top scorers were: John Takos, 175-181-211—567; Jim Hoffman, 166-214-180—560; Chet Remy, 181-232-153—556; J. Zeger, 213-179-160—552; Barney Campbell, 198-176-178—552 and Cecil Reep, 193-188-169—550.

Mac Southward had a single game of 221.

★

John Carr was the top pin-blaster in the Westinghouse C league with a 172-221-183—576 while Lou Tridico had 185-189-184—558. P. H. Woodard trailed with 124-210-220—554. L. Spring had 188-167-170—525 and C. Stone, 193-170-160—523.

P. Waldman had a 212.

★

In the Richland "C" league, Harry Young, Ritz Nite club, had 190-149-185—524 and D. Berry, Mansfield Plumbing, 182-167-175—524. F. Black, Doc Hamman, came in with 159-173-188—520 and Henry Brinkman, Mansfield Rug, had 165-155-199—519.

★

R. Metzger was the Westinghouse girls' leader with 89-155-158—402. Sophia Metz trailed with 108-132-159—399 while M. Heisley had 115-145-125—385.

★

All bowling league secretaries have been asked to include first names on their score sheets.

Getting in and out of your car is a tough chore, isn't it?
Especially in the winter when you're wearing heavy, bulky clothing! But it doesn't have to be—you'd be surprised what "smooth sailing" you can have in and out of your car if it has modern seat covers. You fairly slide across the seat!
Let us show you! Come in and see our wide selection of smooth, comfort-making seat covers—note the fine quality of the fabrics, the excellence of the tailoring, the beautiful patterns and colors, the perfection of cut and craftsmanship which assure such exact fit and such long wear.
Contrasting trim on front and sides; leatherette gusset across top of back rest; heavy corded welt; double stitched seams—these are superiorities we insist on and you'll approve. Come in soon and choose your seat covers!

Allyn McKeen Out As Coach

STARKVILLE, Miss. —(UP)—Because his promised "dream backfield" became a nightmare that lost four games for Mississippi State, Coach Allyn McKeen went job hunting today.

He turned in his resignation last night, and it was accepted immediately.

McKeen, a cold, calculating tactician, had built State into a potent southern football power in his nine years on the job. His teams won 61 southeastern conference games, lost 15 and tied two.

But this season, despite the supposedly winning combination constructed around former Army star Tom (Shorty) McWilliams, State lost four and tied one.

Mills to Remain In Dayton School

DAYTON — (INS) — Don C. Mills of Dayton university said today he intended to remain in school despite the fact that university officials lifted his football letter for striking an official.

Mills, a junior in the physical education department appeared on order before school officials yesterday, charged with striking an official at the Dayton-Chattanooga game at Chattanooga Thanksgiving day He is also barred from further athletic participation at Dayton.

Vets' Officers Go to Columbus

Officers of the Soldiers Relief commission will go to Columbus Saturday and Sunday to attend a meeting of the state organization, which was incorporated recently as a non-profit group.

Going to Columbus are John E. Steel, president of the commission here; John A. Vandervort, service officer; Jack Bistline, assistant, and Carl Mapes, member of the board. Steel is vice president of the state organization.

Vandervort said the meeting will be attended by representatives from the seven districts in the state. Part of the business of the meeting will consist of setting up the new state organization, now that it is incorporated.

Other discussion will center on methods improving services to veterans.

County commissioners approved an estimated expense account of $150 for the officers' attendance at the meeting.

State Rushes to Open Bids on $25,000,000 In Highways

3 Separate Dates Set For Bidding

Claim Injunctions Delayed Road Work

COLUMBUS —(AP)— The State highway department hopes to meet its construction goal for 1948 despite delays blamed on a shortage of engineers and right-of-way troubles.

George J. Thormyer, chief engineer, disclosed that bids would be opened on three separate dates this month — the last of the Republican administration of Gov. Thomas J. Herbert — for a record total of more than $25,000,000 worth of road work.

"That will bring us to about what we set out to do at the start of the year," he said.

Four million dollars' worth of projects are up for letting Dec. 7, he said, $8,000,000 more Dec. 17, and the remainder Dec. 21.

"We had intended having only the usual two lettings," Thormyer explained, "but the second got so full of projects that it became unwieldy and we split it."

The year's goal originally was $50,000,000 worth of work under way or under contract, he said, but rising prices and delays have made the figure $63,000,000.

"There's a shortage of trained engineers on our staff," he said, "and in addition we have had difficulties with rights of way on some projects."

He cited instances in which local factions had obtained injunctions against road work, and others in which local interests tried to force the department to put a state highway through their town whether it was economically justifiable or not.

Bigger projects being offered, he said, include 7½ miles of work on State Route 3 and U. S. 22 in Clinton aand Warren counties; addition of two lanes to U. S. 40 from Springfield east to join a Madison county project and make a four-lane divided highway all the way to Columbus; ten miles of widening, resurfacing, with some new sections, on U. S. 30-N in Crawford and Wyandot counties; the Eddy road grade crossing elimination in Cleveland; the Chester avenue extension in Cleveland; and five miles of construction of two more lanes for U. S. 422 in Trumbull county.

Orchestra Wins Praise

form and to those who favor melody, the program featured the works of the classicists, Bach and Franck; the melody of the romanticist, Tschaikovsky, and the commendable, American-flavored "Fantasia for Strings" by the youthful composer, Peter Mennin.

The deeply religious "The Wise Virgins," by Bach, opened the concert with the typical unsurpassed form aand "blueprint" musicianship of the German master.

And from the time the first note was sounded, Stewart established himself with the audience as a director of note. Using neither baton nor score, he seemed to draw the music from his players as a hypnotist commands the will of his subject.

The questioning, brooding, often aggressive "Symphony in D Minor," by Cesar Franck, with its lovely allegretto middle movement predominated by the cellos, brought Stewart back to the podium and the players to their feet for successive bows before the intermission.

CHRISTMAS TOUCH

Second portion of the program, seemingly most enjoyed by the audience, featured the pleading, singing Mennin composition and the universally loved "Nutcracker Suite," from Tschaikovsky's "Fairy Ballet." Especially appropriate for the Christmas season, the suite tells of the kingdom of childhood make-believe and of a little girl who watches her toys come alive on Christmas eve.

Appreciation of the fine evening of music was five full minutes of applause for Stewart and the orchestra, who won more applause with the Strauss waltz, "Wiener Blut," "Russian Sailors' Dance" and the exciting "Sabre Dance" from Khachaturian's "Gayne Ballet Suite," as encores.

Next concert of the season will feature Richard Tucker, Metropolitan Opera tenor, on Jan. 10.

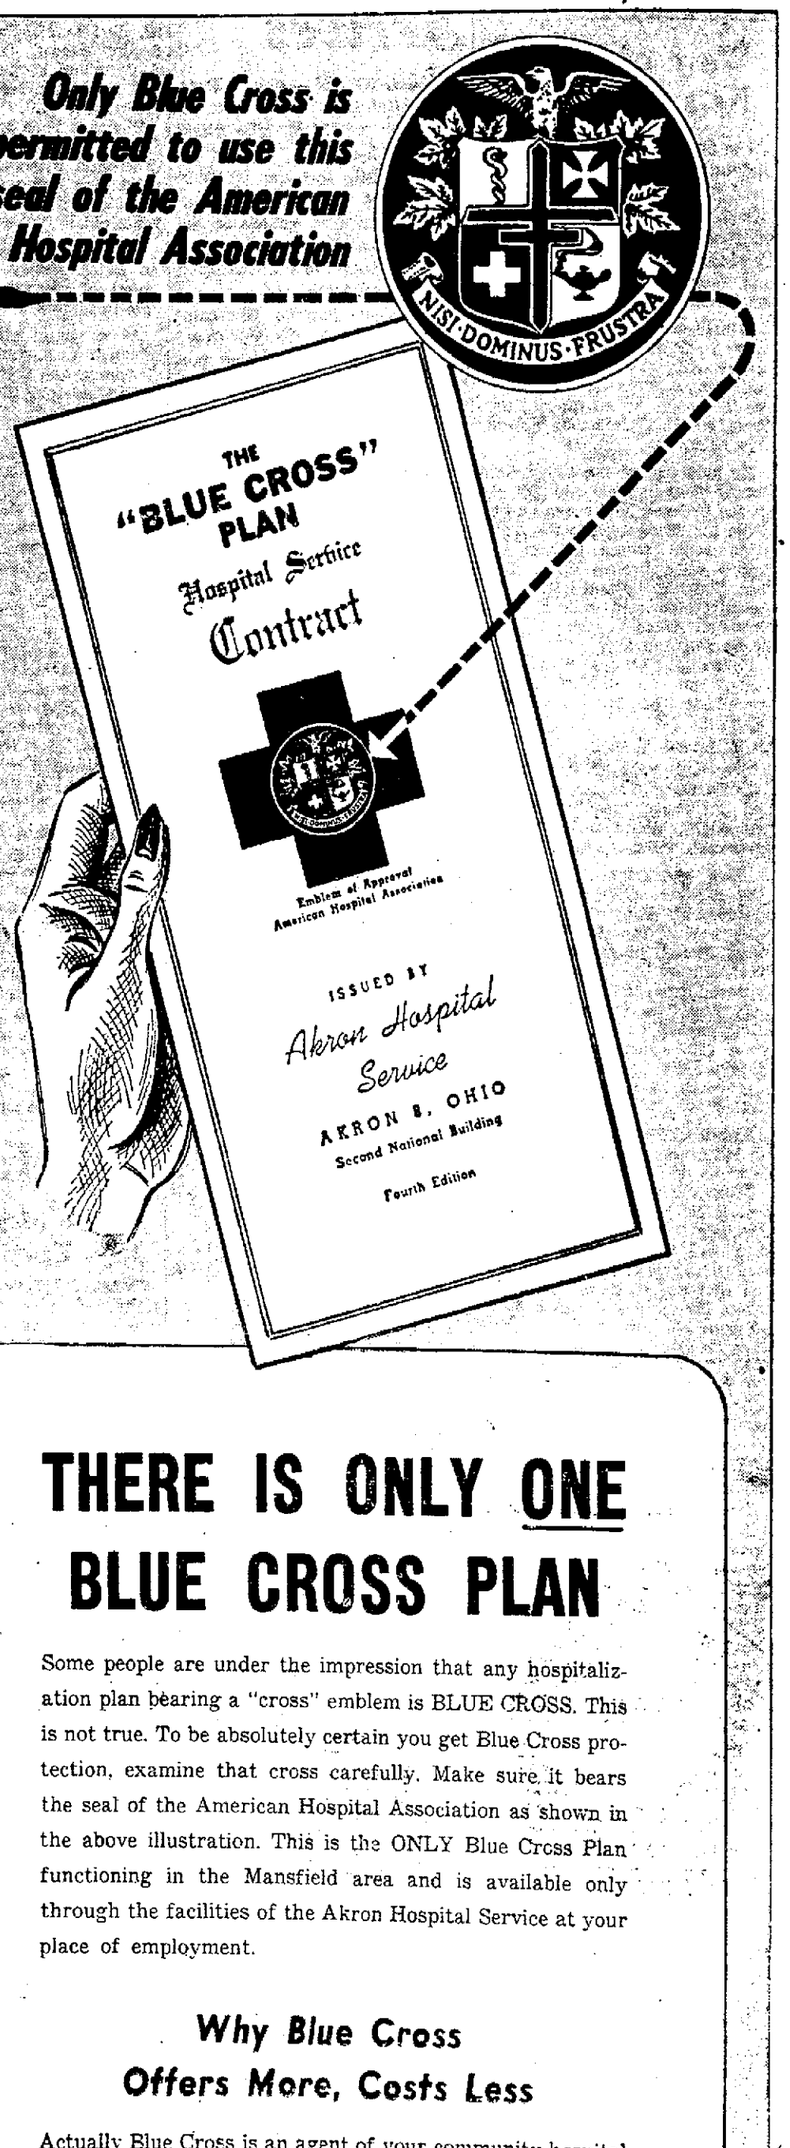
Only Blue Cross is permitted to use this seal of the American Hospital Association



THERE IS ONLY ONE BLUE CROSS PLAN

Some people are under the impression that any hospitalization plan bearing a "cross" emblem is BLUE CROSS. This is not true. To be absolutely certain you get Blue Cross protection, examine that cross carefully. Make sure it bears the seal of the American Hospital Association as shown in the above illustration. This is the ONLY Blue Cross Plan functioning in the Mansfield area and is available only through the facilities of the Akron Hospital Service at your place of employment.

Why Blue Cross Offers More, Costs Less

Actually Blue Cross is an agent of your community hospital and like your hospital, operates entirely on a NON-PROFIT basis. More than 93c out of each Blue Cross dollar goes to pay subscribers' hospital bills. That is why Blue Cross—and only Blue Cross, offers more for your money. See your employer today for full details.

250 Raiders Storm Plant In Michigan

Non-Strikers Get Beatings

KALAMAZOO, Mich — (INS) — Nearly 250 men wearing CIO lapel buttons stormed adjoining plants of the strike-bound Shakespeare company today and spread a reign of terror for an hour and a half.

The invaders overturned cars and attacked non-strikers with abandon.

Police Chief Howard W Hoyt reported that the dozens of cars carrying demonstrators bore license plates with pre-fixes issued in the Detroit area.

He asserted that "a number of employes were beaten up," cars were overturned in the company's parking lot, one or two were upset in the street and still another was upended in the rear of an adjoining service station

All of the windows on one side of the plant were smashed with sticks and stones

It was the first demonstration of any sort in several weeks, although "80 to 90 per cent" of the factory personnel had returned to their jobs since the United Steel Workers—CIO called the strike last Sept. 7.

Hoyt said picket lines had dwindled "almost to nothing" during the past two or three weeks and none of the non-strikers had been accosted as they passed through the gates during that time

Harmony Show Spurs Interest

Barbershop quartet fans from a score of towns outside the Mansfield area have requested reservations Saturday for the Harvest of Harmony scheduled by the local SPEBSQSA chapter, Ralph A Hughes, chapter secretary, reported today

The program which will bring together the international champions, The Pittsburghers, and last year's champions, The Doctors of Harmony, along with the principal district leaders, has created a flurry among barbershoppers, Hughes declared.

Recent phone calls and letters came from widespread points, including Pittsburgh, Spencerville, O., near the Indiana line, Lorain, Elyria, Columbus, Massillon, Medina and Mt. Vernon.

A Columbus newspaper telephoned to Hughes to ask for full particulars on the program, and to inform him that a reporter would be sent Saturday to cover the event

The Parade of Quartets will be presented at two locations, Mansfield Senior high school, starting at 7 45 p. m. and John Simpson Junior high, starting at 8:15 Identical programs will be given at the two spots, Hughes stated.

Hospital Bills OK'd

"Approximately $2,000 for hospital bills was approved yesterday by the Hospital Bureau, of the Community Chest," William F Bell, chairman of the Chest Investigating committee, said.

Eighteen cases, in which the costs range from $6.45 to $465, were OK'd on the grounds that the family income was insufficient to meet costs of hospital care, Bell said.

"Most of the bills will be paid to Mansfield General hospital, but there are some at People's and Madison hospitals here, and at St Vincent's in Cleveland," he added

All of the cases, being self-sufficient to a certain degree, were not legally indigent and were not therefore entitled to public relief, Bell explained. "Only one case was refused, and that was because we felt that the family could have met hospital expenses if they had properly managed their income," he said

Ask Action On Strike

COLUMBUS —(AP)— The International Union of Mine, Mill and Smelter Workers (CIO) today asked Gov. Thomas J. Herbert to intervene in the American Zinc Oxide company strike

In a letter to the governor, the Cleveland headquarters of the union charged "brutality and unfair treatment" by sheriff's deputies, and said "sheriff's officers have made arrests of the innocent pickets while urging scabs to violent action against pickets."

Disturbances on the picket line of the plant have resulted in arrests of more than 20 persons since the strike started Aug 13. A back-to-work movement started at the plant Nov 8 and since then deputy sheriffs have been called out to maintain order

The letter to the governor was signed by Irving Dichter, board member of the international union. The union did not specify in what way it wanted the governor to "intervene"

YWCA to Sponsor Swimming Classes At Senior High Pool

The YWCA will sponsor a series of swimming classes for women beginning tomorrow night The classes will be held in the Senior high school pool at 7 p. m. the first and third Thursday of each month, starting tomorrow and continuing through March

There will be classes for beginners and intermediates and an extra period for those who desire to swim without instruction.

The classes are open to all Mansfield women of post-high school age

A fee of $3 will be charged for the series of eight instruction periods A special charge will be made to those who swim during the period when no instruction is given

All women who plan to enroll in the classes must have a physical examination The YWCA is making arrangements for Dr Mabel Emery to give the examinations The examinations will be the standard health tests used in YWCA's all over the country and will be good in any YWCA for a period of one year

One instructor and at least one guard will be on duty at the swimming sessions

Further information about the classes and registrations is available at the YWCA Registrations will be taken at the pool Thursday night

PAGE FOUR MANSFIELD, OHIO, WEDNESDAY, DECEMBER 1, 1948

As you may have noticed, the month that just flashed by was November—and here's December already . . . careful, or Christmas will get by before you know it.

Just as finances have been stretched to the point of considering purchase of a new car, another price advance is announced—making it necessary to start figuring all over again.

One-House Legislature Being Studied

GOVERNOR HERBERT'S call for another special session of the Ohio legislature, to be held next Monday to act on one specific matter, serves to direct attention to a movement that now seems to be gaining some headway—that of substituting a one-house legislature for the present cumbersome two-house body which functions so laboriously and inadequately.

A committee that includes the mayors of Cleveland and Cincinnati is taking the initiative in proposing adoption of unicameral legislature, with about 70 well-paid full-time members, chosen in proportion to population and meeting several times a year.

It is pointed out that present membership of the general assembly—175—is too large for general debate; that members are poorly paid and therefore cannot devote much time to public business; that sessions are too infrequent to deal with problems as they arise; and that, responsibility being divided between two houses, each passes bad bills assuming the other will reject them.

Vote-swapping, log-rolling and secret deals are also cited as products of the two-house system, which has developed a rural-urban rivalry regarded as injurious to both elements.

Present status of the proposal is that a constitutional amendment has been prepared and certified by the attorney general. Next action would be to circulate petitions designed to submit the issue to voters for expression of preference.

World Plan For Wheat Production

A NEW EFFORT to make an international wheat agreement is planned by the United Nations Food and Agriculture Organization, meeting in Washington. President Truman told the group he has reason to hope the next Congress may be more willing to have the United States join in such an agreement than was the last one. Apparently Russia and Argentina would still be missing if an agreement should be reached this winter.

The purpose is to stabilize the amount and price of wheat moving in world trade for five years. It is hoped that more wheat would then be produced, since growers would know in advance that there would be an export market for a certain quantity of wheat at an established minimum price. More trade in wheat also is viewed as an influence which might stimulate other commerce, and lead to other agreements for increasing it.

As long as the aim is abundance, wheat trade agreements should be good. Unquestionably there is need for more wheat in the world, and for better distribution of it. The same is true of other foods. However, in the long run there is likely to be a situation in which the world price drops below the treaty price. Then comes a tug-of-war between the aims of producing more and of supporting prices at a fixed level. A plan should be ready for such a situation.

In past history, market surplus of food always has been the result of inability of people to buy it, rather than of having more than was needed. That should be borne in mind when agreements are made to hold prices at some fixed level over a period of years.

Books That Teach Crime Methods

ANY LETHARGIC attitude noticed in Mansfield toward suggested banning of objectionable "comic books" should not be mistaken as general over the country.

According to a report by the United States Conference of Mayors, about fifty cities have taken steps toward regulation of sales of dime "thrillers" that place emphasis on murder, mayhem, sex and glorification of crime.

The report revealed that a survey in Dayton showed that among boys and girls in the eight to 14-year age group, 96.5 per cent of the boys and 94.7 per cent of the girls read these books, and it was commented: "There is general agreement among educators, psychiatrists and law enforcement officials that this trend of 'comics' is anything but beneficial to the youngsters of America."

Steps already taken in various cities range from laws banning objectionable comic books to co-operative efforts among dealers.

The report stated that 35 companies publish about 300 varieties of comic books, with annual sales of 720,000,000 copies, yielding a gross return of $72,000,000.

A survey reveals that three per cent of the British people believe the United States is still a colony of the empire—but the other 97 per cent probably realize that borrowing has been substituted for "taxation without representation."

Claude Callan offers this encouraging note: "A strong man with steady work can earn enough to pay his taxes, if he only has some means of getting food and clothing."

Soon there's to be a new 4-cent air mail postal card—for those who prefer speed to privacy in sending a brief message.

Someone was wondering what boys did before there were scooters. That's easy—they were busy inventing 'em.

That Looks Like the Last Straw.

Raymond Moley's Analysis

Place Trust In Truman To Halt Inflation

IT IS too broad a statement to say that price inflation is a state of mind. But it has been true as far back as there are economic records that, unless there are exceedingly abnormal conditions in the supply of money and goods, the general attitude of the consumer can make or break price inflation.

B. M. Baruch throughout the war told us that as long as people did not lose faith in their money altogether, there would be no runaway inflation. There was no runaway inflation, although during and since the war there were enough price increases to cause great discomfort, some panic and general uncertainty.

The present and future attitude of the public, therefore, must be examined with care, if we are to make an estimate of the future of this inflationary boom.

What is there in the present situation which may affect the public attitude, and what course may be anticipated?

In the first place, it will be well for those millions who voted for Dewey and the other millions who voted for Truman, despite their belief that he would lose, to keep in mind one fact which has been grossly underestimated by those who scan the economic weather.

That fact is that some millions voted for Truman in the belief that he could stop inflation and that Republicans had up to now frustrated his efforts. Those millions have vast purchasing power. Their attitude at the moment must be that prices will be checked or will come down.

It is the simplest of simple sense, therefore, to expect that those millions will put a brake on their buying. They will wait awhile, until Truman gets busy on his plans for helping them. In reasoning this way we need not consider whether Truman's plans will be wise or good.

In politics and economics it is just as important to note what people believe as it is to examine the wisdom of their belief. What they believe, whether it be true or not, greatly influences the course of events.

* * *

Contributing Factors.

TO REPEAT, millions believe prices will come down, and that belief is and will be a considerable check on inflation, for the time being at least. It is risky to suggest that this has already caused a slowing down in some markets, such as department stores or the stock market. But it may well be that this factor is highly important in both places.

As noted above, however, public psychology is only one factor in the picture. Do the present supplies of money and goods present abnormalities great enough to outweigh consumer reluctance to buy?

The general answer to that is "no". There is no immediate danger of an over-supply of currency, for there is no over-supply at present, nor is there a prospective increase in sight.

Increased inflation can hardly come from a budget deficit, for it is probable that there will be no deficit in the present fiscal year. There will be no increase in the national debt.

Clarence Cannon, prospective Democratic chairman of appropriations, is already talking about budget cuts and debt reduction.

There is not likely to be any immediate rise in bank credits, because the purchasing power of bank credits measured with total business volume is no higher than in 1939.

There is, of course, the prospective drive for a fourth round of wage increases. That drive will certainly be made. But such an inflationary force does not hit all at once. It generally arrives, from place to place, as contracts expire or as specific unions feel that the time is ripe.

The argument for such increases will lose force as the cost of living declines or fails to rise. The deflationary forces mentioned above will slow down the rise of wages. There will be wage increases, of course, but the size and number foll be modified by conditions already developing on the downward side.

Farmer's Diary

One Great Challenge

By CALVIN A. BYERS

THE SOIL may be ideal. The climate may be perfect. The farming may be skillfully done. Yet, if the seed is lacking in vitality there can never be a crop!

Start to study land and crops and you find that food is grown for PEOPLE to eat. Study peoples and their racial and social problems and you find their problems arise from their care of their land. Not only farmers' problems—everybody's problems.

Some farmers will have nothing but "pure-bred" livestock. Others claim that cross-breeding—producing highclass mongrels—make a better, more profitable business. Is a lively mongrel worth more than a decadent blueblood? Perhaps.

Hybrid corn is produced by crossing two inbred strains. The inbreeding intensifies the virtues of some specimens, and when these are crossed, the resulting hybrid has been proven to give greater yield. But hybridization of animals is more difficult. Animals reproduce more slowly and in far smaller numbers.

Experiments in cross-breeding animals from widely different climates do not result in satisfactory progeny. It is found more satisfactory to mate those of similar climates, soils and food habits. The surrounding environment enters into the making of any form of life. Even man himself.

Half-starved animals — half-starved people—are notably warlike, quarrelsome, dangerous. The No. 1 Enemy of every person alive is lack of adequate food for everyone. Nobody knows how much his own life is affected by what he eats or does not eat because he knows no better. Many have gorged themselves, but few people have eaten adequately.

Wars and diseases are part of a degenerative course that leads to extinction. It has happened to other forms of life and to other civilizations. It could happen here. Researching science has dug eloquent proofs out of long-buried ruins.

Some have claimed that the human race is already too far degenerated to ever lift itself out of the mess it is in. But others say, "No, that's not true. By God's help, we can feed our children better than we were fed—we can leave the earth more of a garden spot than we found it. So shall our seed be strong . . ."

Is this not the greatest challenge to thinking people, in this atomic age?

As Cerf Tells It

Tallulah Bankhead, touring in Noel Coward's museum piece, "Private Lives," was kept awake one night by a persistent rattle against her window pane. She discovered it to be a piece of metal on the end of a wire and angrily drew it inside and tucked it under her pillow. A few moments later she was sleeping the sleep of the innocent. The next morning she was horrified to discover that the metal piece under her pillow was the LIGHTNING CONDUCTOR.

Tax 'Avoidance' Upheld, Not 'Evasion'

Editor News-Journal:

In one of the editorials appearing in last Sunday's News-Journal you label as "tax-dodgers" those individuals who are attempting to treat their income in such a fashion as to come under the capital gain provisions of the income tax rather than have such income taxed as so-called ordinary income, thus reducing the amount of their tax.

There is a decided difference between tax evadence (tax dodging) and tax avoidance, which I believe your editorial overlooks. No one can hold any brief for a tax evader or a tax dodger. He is not only a criminal that should be prosecuted to the fullest extent of the law, but he is also a social and economic parasite.

On the other hand, there is nothing illegal about tax avoidance. The government does not want you to pay any more tax than what you owe it. In filing a return the taxpayer has many alternatives and choices.

For instance, even the selection of the particular income tax return blank to file will affect the amount of his tax. It has long been established by court decision that a taxpayer has the perfect right to handle a transaction in such a way as to minimize the amount of his tax as long as such action is within legal bounds.

The attempted conversion of regular income into capital gain has arisen as a result of the bureau's ruling in the Amos and Andy case and also in the case of General Eisenhower. Undoubtedly the bureau, as well as the individuals relying on the ruling, are going to run into considerable trouble. However, to label them as taxdodgers is an insult not only to the individuals involved, but also to the tax advisers of the respective individuals concerned.

Rather than be reproached, the tax counselors should be commended for their wise tax judgment and the taxpayer likewise should be commended for his choice of tax counselor.

As far as the small income taxpayers "being held to exactness in their returns and payments," it is a well-known fact that if the charitable organizations shown on the income tax returns actually received even a portion of the amounts shown on these returns, there would be very few mortgages remaining on any of the charitable organizations in the country.

Marshall Displeased By Clay's Attitude

By DREW PEARSON

WASHINGTON—Now that Secretary of State Marshall is back from Paris, it is possible to get a clearer idea of who was responsible for the U. S.-British decision to turn the Ruhr back to the German cartels. This has lost us more friends in western Europe than any other single move since V-E day.

The week before Thanksgiving, Gen. Lucius Clay came to Paris to confer with Marshall before the latter took off for Washington. Clay was accompanied by his political adviser, French-hating Ambassador Robert Murphy.

Marshall and Clay are old friends, but the secretary had occasion to differ sharply with Clay on this occasion, and, according to insiders, to reprimand both him and Murphy.

The issue was whether any hope could come from trying to mediate the Berlin dispute. At that moment, the United Nations mediation efforts were under way. Both Clay and Murphy opposed this, said they thought the Berlin deadlock had become too difficult to be patched up. Marshall curtly told them the decisions were being made in Paris, for the moment, not Berlin.

Three days later, the Herald Tribune, European edition, published a front-page story quoting an unnamed American official in Berlin as saying precisely the things Clay and Murphy had said in Paris. Marshall had gone to Washington by this time, but an immediate investigation was ordered regarding the leak.

One top-ranking American delegationer said, "If we can find out who promoted that story, he'll have to retract or get out!"

But the source is now enjoying protection in the tight little Berlin colony and won't be detected.

The other issue where Clay surprised and displeased Marshall was in the announcement of Anglo-American plans to hand the Ruhr industries back to the German cartels. According to sources close to Marshall, this came as a complete surprise to him. Later, as secretary of state, he was obliged to explain the action of the agonized French. It did not make him happy.

Note: Behind Clay's high-policy decisions are the U. S. bankers who once loaned billions to the Ruhr and who now run the U. S. defense department plus Ambassador Bob Murphy, whose bitterness against France is notorious.

Truman's Election Guess.

MONTANA'S newly re-elected Senator Jim Murray called at the White House recently to suggest that extension of the Senate small business committee should be high on the list of presidential recommendations to the next Congress.

"The dangers of monopoly were never greater," explained the Montanan, who, though one of the wealthiest men in Congress, has been a hard-hitting champion of the little fellow. "We've got to stay on the ball if we want to preserve free enterprise."

"I'm behind you 100 per cent, Jim," declared Truman. "That committee must be extended and I further agree with you that one of the most important measures we must enact is a strong anti-monopoly law."

The President laughed heartily when Charles Murray, the senator's son, showed him a clipping from the Lewistown, Montana, News, predicting a month before the election that Truman would receive 308 electoral votes. The final count was 304. The President said he had to confess, however, that the newspaper's optimism exceeded his own.

"My own prediction on my electoral count, which I placed in a sealed envelope, was less than 304," the President told his callers. He politely but stubbornly refused to reveal the exact number he predicted, and this figure has remained an official White House secret.

However, it can be revealed that the Truman forecast was 276 electoral votes—10 more than he needed and 28 less than he finally got.

The President based his prediction on the belief that every state with a Democratic governor would go Democratic except Virginia, which Truman thought would give a majority to Dewey. He was wrong on Virginia, which fooled him by staying in the Democratic column, and on Maryland, which surprised him by going Republican.

The President also figured he would lose both New York and California, but California surprised him, pleasantly, by going Democratic.

Didn't Read "Fine Print."

THREE years ago, Marine Pilot Robert Fraser zoomed into a cloud bank off the California coast. That was the last ever seen of him. Search planes prowled over the area for three days, but never spotted so much as a floating fragment to give a clue to his fate.

The missing Marine left behind a young widow and four fatherless tots. In the Marine Corps' care, he also left a sealed envelope, containing an Acacia Mutual Life Insurance company policy. He had taken out the policy during the war, believing it would protect his family in case he didn't come back. Yet Mrs. Fraser hasn't been able to collect a cent.

Her tragic story will be made one of next year's headlines, when Wisconsin's GOP Senator Joe McCarthy, himself an ex-Marine, plans to focus the national spotlight on a vicious insurance racket. McCarthy will expose how widows and orphans, applying for insurance payments, often get nothing but empty legal phrases—dug out of the fine print.

McCarthy already has written to the Marine commandant, Gen. Clifton Cates, urging him to bar Acacia salesmen from Marine bases. Backing this up, the senator is also working on a bill which will require the military to screen all life insurance policies sold to military personnel.

For, buried in Fraser's life insurance policy was a clause which he apparently didn't know about. This freed the company from making payment in case his death were caused by "injury resulting from riding in, or operating, or falling, or descending from or with, any type of aircraft."

As evidence that Fraser didn't understand this clause, he had left a note sealed with his other papers, indicating his belief that the policy would take care of his family if he were killed in action.

Yet Mrs. Fraser, with four young children on her hands, has been forced to earn her own way.

The interesting fact is that the company tripped over its own legal wording, and still might be vulnerable to a lawsuit. Since no evidence was found of Major Fraser's death, it cannot be proved that he died of injuries connected with the airplane. He may have bailed out safely, then drowned in the ocean or died of hunger and privation on a liferaft. The burden of proof is on the company, and the legal presumption is in favor of life.

However, the Acacia company, which maintains a swank, marble-front building almost opposite the Capitol in Washington, still refuses to pay.

Viewing the National Scene

Rejuvenated Democrats

By THOMAS L. STOKES

WASHINGTON — Interesting to watch here and in the country at large in the next few months, as the new Truman administration settled down in its own right, will be the beginning of a reforming of the Democratic party nationally on the issues and about the new figures that have come to the fore.

Never was the face of a party, nor its future outlook, so changed and brightened in the space of a few brief months.

Only so recently as its national convention in July, the party was generally described by observers there—and properly—as wornout, decrepit and, what there was of it, generally shot to pieces by factionalism.

This internecine warfare began before the convention when a strange alliance of its then most important components—the South, big city bosses and labor—tried to dump President Truman and ended with part of the South walking out into a new sectional splinter party and part of the left joining up with Henry Wallace.

Few practical politicians then would have given five cents for its chances to win an election and this very apparent despair was translated into a conviction among political analysts that never changed—until the big surprise the day after election.

But now it is something entirely different, possessing the exultant spirit that comes with victory, and with new figures and faces, both in Congress and in state capitals, from which to look for new leaders—and new candidates. There was certainly a dearth of the latter when the field was canvassed before the national convention—and afterward.

The managers of the party in Congress are, by and large, still the old familiar figures and its leader in the White House is 64 years old and his right-hand lieutenant, vice president-elect Alben W. Barkley, is 71.

* * *

Ambitious Newcomers.

BUT NOW a vigorous second-line of defense, militantly progressive for the most part, has moved into position with the election victory. Here in Congress and in capitals of some big key states which Democrats recaptured, the newcomers will be vying with each other to make records that will put them in a position where they hope the legendary lightning may strike them four years from now, either for first or second place on the ticket or for posts of party leadership.

Personal ambition will infuse new vitality into the party. This, in turn, should help President Truman with his legislative program, for the record of the party is something upon which all must stand and from all can draw advantage if it is good.

Of the new order which was shoved forward in the election there will be in the Senate such men as Clinton P. Anderson of New Mexico, former secretary of agriculture and former house member; Estes Kefauver of Tennessee and Lyndon Johnson, of Texas, both former house members; Paul Douglas, Illinois; Hubert Humphrey, mayor of Minneapolis, who led the successful convention fight for a strong civil rights plank in the platform; Lester Hunt, former governor of Wyoming; former Governor Robert S. Kerr of Oklahoma.

Back in the House to carry on a progressive political career that already has attracted national notice is the dynamic Rep. Mike Monroney of Oklahoma.

Among eight new Democratic governors of whom seven are in populous eastern and mid-western states, attention will focus on Adlai Stevenson of Illinois; Frank Lausche of Ohio, who was governor once before, and Chester A. Bowles of Connecticut, former OPA head, all of whom have won national recognition of one sort and another.

Beyond the factor of personalities, there was the factor in Democratic recapture of key states of control of state organizations which is necessary groundwork in politics.

One Man's Opinion

—By WALTER KIERNAN

THE dispatching of a Navy plane to bring Mrs. Chiang to the United States is not to be taken as precedent by other applicants for small loans.

* * *

In the future as in the past they will be expected to provide their own transportation, cutaways, and a suitable number of empty heavy-canvas bags.

* * *

I don't know how much Mrs. Chiang will get this time but this is the 10th year the Chinese Army has been an American cost-of-living statistic.

* * *

They not only have our deepest sympathy but quite a bit of our money and that's remarkable back-stopping from a nation which won't support a losing football coach more than one season.

Dave Boone Says:

I GUESS folks everywhere were shocked by the news that quite a few New York hospitals were not sending doctors out on ambulance calls. The exposure only came about when a policeman discovered that a woman, recorded as dead by an ambulance "attendant," found she was still breathing. I can't figure out many points at which a doctor is more necessary than with an ambulance.

* * *

One hospital chief defends the use of attendants by saying "This is the first time in 35 years I ever heard of such a case." Just how would anybody hear of such a case if the patient died, as this one might have, in a few more minutes?

* * *

It's been corrected now, with doctors being put on the ambulances, but the episode still has a lot of people shuddering.

* * *

A thing I can't understand is why hospitals and their staffs can be so cold and casual about things like this until a scandal stirs the community.

Prejudice Defied.

Evidently Amherst college gives its students a liberal education, in the best meaning of that phrase.

At any rate, members of the Amherst chapter of the Phi Kappa Psi fraternity have the good sense and the courage to refuse to bow to racial prejudice. They have stood firm in their decision to accept into membership a Negro undergraduate, even though this means suspension by the national fraternity.

The Amherst boys properly recognize that the character and ability of their new member are far more important than the pigmentation of his skin.

The chapter has set an example which will make it easier for other well-intentioned undergraduates to defy prejudice.—Akron Beacon Journal.

FPC Hears Gas Need

Ohio Officials Testify Today

WASHINGTON —(UP)— The Federal Power Commission today was to hear the requests of Ohio municipal officials for an increase of 235,000,000 cubic feet per day in natural gas supplies beginning at the close of next year.

The East Ohio Gas company, serving the northeastern part of Ohio, has contracted for 110,000,000 cubic feet of the gas and the Columbia Gas and Electric company has contracted to share 100,000,000 cubic feet with the Manufacturers Light and Heat company, Pittsburgh.

Columbia is the parents organization of the Ohio Fuel Gas company, Columbus, which serves the Dayton and Cincinnati areas.

All Ohio officials called to testify today agreed that there will be another gas shortage unless an additional supply is provided. Called to testify were Canton City Solicitor Thomas Nichols, other municipal officials, and Assistant Atty. Gen. Harry Fitzgerald.

2 Willard Men Injured

WILLARD — Five Baltimore and Ohio train crewmen, including two Willard men, suffered minor injuries early today when a Diesel-powered passenger train crashed into a New York Central freight train about five miles south of Warren. The 148 passengers were jarred and shaken but none was injured.

The Willard crewmen injured were: Fred Piller, 61, engineer, with scalp lacerations and abrasions, and A. T. Whatman, 41, fireman, with body bruises. They were released after treatment in St. Joseph's hospital in Warren.

The 11-car express, which left Washington at 1:45 p. m. yesterday, collided with the 63-car freight train which pulled out of a siding against a signal, a B. & O. spokesman told the Associated Press.

Only the Diesel engine and the Diesel power section of the express were derailed. The remainder of the train was backed into Youngstown, connected with another Diesel and sent on to Chicago. Five cars of the freight train, loaded with coal, were demolished.

Rings In Shoes, Thief Can't Run

CINCINNATI—(INS)—A one-day, six-man crime wave was nipped by Cincinnati police today because one of the "ringleaders" was wearing rings from head to toe.

Twenty-one-year-old James Edward Lewis, of Winona, W. Va., was captured with a stolen car following a gas station and two jewelry store robberies because he had several rings in his shoes and couldn't run. Police said he also had two rings in his hatband.

AGED MAN KILLED

ADA — (AP) — An automobile killed Charles Hammer, 85, as he walked along Route 69 a mile north of here last night.

CORRECTION

The name of Mrs. Arthur Snavely, mother of Pvt. Harry A. Bride, was erroneously omitted from a story of re-burial services for Pvt. Bride in yesterday's News-Journal. Mrs. Snavely lives in Mansfield. His father and stepmother, Mr. and Mrs. Russell Bride, live in Bellville.

Tells About War Graves

A former captain in the Graves Registration Division of the United States Army, H. R. Southworth gave a talk on his war experiences to a luncheon meeting of the Co-Operative club last night at the Mansfield-Leland hotel.

Southworth, a veteran of the North African, Italian and Western European campaigns, said: "The Americans built their cemeteries on a temporary basis, but the Germans built theirs on a permanent one, with landscaping, marble headpieces and other lasting features."

Southworth went on to add that when the Americans were pushed back by the Germans in the Bulge, the U. S. cemeteries taken over were looked after in a most co-operative manner.

Program chairman for the meeting was Arthur W. Wheatley.

COLUMBUS — (UP) — The 66 Republicans in the next Ohio House of Representatives meet here today to pick their leader for the 98th general assembly.

Hi-Y Club Names New Committees

Committees for the Half Century Hi-Y club dance to be held Friday night at the "Y" were chosen at the club's regular meeting Monday night.

George Damoff was chosen head of the poster committee; Frank Plant was put in charge of the publicity committee; and Richard Neal was picked to head the ticket committee.

The club voted to have a father and son dinner Dec. 13.

KITCHEN DAMAGED

Called to the home of Roy Beer, 212 Fairlawn avenue at 9:45 this morning, firemen from Central station and Station No. 5 found a blaze in the kitchen had burned window curtains and scorched paint on a kitchen cupboard.

Volleyball Cancelled

League play for the women's recreation volleyball teams has been cancelled for tonight at Johnny Appleseed gym, Stanley Kamen announced.

Cancellation is due to the unavailability of the gym, Kamen said. League play will be resumed next Wednesday night, Dec. 8 at 7:30 p. m. Doors will be opened at 7:30 p. m. to allow players to enter the gym.

Play dates this month are Dec. 15 and Dec. 22. No league play will be held the week between Christmas and New Years.

MANSFIELD SOROSIS HEARS OF SWEITZER'S BIOGRAPHY

Miss Bertha Pattersn Presents Program At Women's Club; Mrs. Courtney Serves As Hostess.

MISS BERTHA PATTERSON reviewed "The Biography of Albert Sweitzer," by George Seaver, when members of the Mansfield Sorosis met Tuesday evening at the Women's Club. Mrs. Arthur Courtney presided as hostess.

The speaker told of this famous man, who was unusual even as a child. He became a great organist, studying under the organ master, Vidor. Sweitzer received four doctor's degrees: in music, theology, philosophy and medicine. His greatest interest was his medical missionary work in Africa, where he established a hospital in Lambarene

During the business session the members voted to contribute Christmas gifts to the Friendly House. Roll call was answered on the topic, "Lighter Vein."

The annual Christmas party is scheduled for Dec. 14 at 6 p. m. at the home of Mrs. Lowell Bourns, Russell road. This will be a covered dish dinner.

Honor Couple On Anniversary

Mr. and Mrs. William Sand, 214 Lexington avenue, were pleasantly surprised Nov. 28 on their silver wedding anniversary. A group of friends spend the evening at their home and served a buffet supper in honor of the couple. Later in the evening Virgil Hess presented the honorees with a chest of silver; from the group.

Those in attendance were Mr. and Mrs. Hess and family; Mr. and Mrs. John Nobel and family; Mr. and Mrs. Paul Tapper and family; Mrs. and Mrs. William Dinteman; Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Grau Mr. and Mrs. Raymond Auxter and Mr. and Mrs. Fred Sand and family of Shelby.

Mr. Tapper played the wedding march on the organ as the group marched to the supper.

DINNER PLANNED

CRESTLINE — Group Three of Trinity Luthern Church Ladies Aid Society headed by Mrs. R. E. Plummer, met in the home of Mrs. Sherman Brown with Mrs. Adam Metz and Mrs. Charles Foster assisting hostesses. Mrs. Plummer presided, and Mrs. Foster led devotionals. Plans were made for the Christmas Potluck dinner and gift exchange Dec.7 in the church social room. Lunch was served.

Campbell Class Names Officers

Mrs. Jack Beasore, Scholl road, was elected president of the Campbell class of the Park Avenue Baptist church yesterday at a meeting at the home of Mrs. Fred Walters, 375 West Fifth street.

Other officers elected were: vice president, Mrs Clifton Cornell; secretary and treasurer, Mrs. Eldon Thompson; program chairman, Mrs. James Smith and assistant pogram chairman, Mrs. Howard Richards.

Mrs. Walters led the devotions and the guest speaker was Mrs. Betty Newton.

The 23 guests present were served refreshments during the social hour. Mrs. Charles Burton, Marion avenue, will entertain the group at the January meeting.

Joint Meeting To Be Held By Two Clubs

Miss Eleanor Stevens of Oberlin will be the guest speaker Wednesday, Dec. 8 when a joint meeting is held by the Tuesday Book Club and the Wednesday Study club. Mrs. E. R. Hartman, 121 Marion avenue, will be hostess at 2:30 p. m. at her home. Mrs. David N. Feiser is to serve as associate hostess. "Christmas Legends" will be the subject of the program.

Tuesday Book club members met yesterday at the Women'a Club with Mrs. L. D. Wright as hostess. Seventeen members and one guest, Mrs. Thomas Wright, were present. A report was given on the club's Christmas project, which is to send magazines to the Children's Home.

Luncheon was served at noon followed by a program by Mrs. W. A. Slabaugh. She gave a review on "With Much Love" by Anne Green, prepared by Mrs. Walter Stevens.

The next regular meeting of the club will be held Jan. 11 with Mrs. J. R. Small as hostess.

Mrs. Beechler Conducts Business

The Iota Sigma, WCTU, met Tuesday evening at the home of Mrs. Claude Austin, Lida street. The meeting was presided over by the president, Mrs. Everett Beechler. Mrs. J. W. Kline led the group in devotions.

Mrs. J. W. Waddell gave a report of the state convention held at Cincinnati. Carol and Janet Austin sang a song entitled "Say, Will You Be Ready?"

The next meeting will be held at the home of Miss Lillian Beaumont, South Main street, Dec. 28.

Book Reviewed By Miss June Shires

Fifteen members were present at the regular meeting of the Fortnight club held Tuesday evening at the Women's Club. The president, Miss Virginia Stark, conducted the business session.

(News-Journal Correspondent)

COLUMBUS—With Ohio State's fall quarter social season nearly at an end after the Thanksgiving holidays, 150 Mansfielders on campus are settling down to the final battle of the books this week in preparation for final exams and Christmas vacation.

Some 26 busy Mansfield clubbers did take time, though, to attend a brief business meeting of that organization before exams. Aside from discussion of a special winter quarter party, principal business consisted of selecting another social co-chairman in the person of Bob Shill.

Two sound movies, one of them in color, completed the evening's session except for plans for weekend rides home from Columbus.

* * *

A different phase of Mansfield activity on campus occurred on a recent Wednesday when a Mansfield-revived OSU custom was carried out in the memorial to the university's war dead, observed every Wednesday noon.

The occasion was a minute of silence and the playing of "Taps" for Ensign George M. Armbruster jr., son of Mr. and Mrs. George M. Armbruster, 880 Grace street.

Ensign Armbruster was killed in action July 27, 1944, when his Navy "Helldiver" plane crashed on a mission in the Pacific.

The brief memorial ceremony, which had been an OSU tradition for nearly 30 years, was saved from oblivion Nov. 10, 1947, when Mansfielder Ian Seeds volunteered to serve as bugler and to recruit others to keep the memorial alive.

Garden Club of Ohio Christmas Meeting To Be Held on Friday

The Garden club of Ohio Christmas meeting will be held on Friday afternoon, December 3rd, at 1:30 o'clock, in the Higbee auditorium, Cleveland, Mrs. Robert Mehl, of Ashland, the president, will preside. She will be assisted by Mrs. W. W. Criley, of Cleveland, vice president of Garden Club of Ohio, and Mrs C. M. Huber, of Rocky River, Cleveland regional vice president.

A talk on "Christmas Decorations in the Home" will be given by Mrs. W. A. Williams, of Rocky River, O. Mrs. Williams will set several Christmas tables including a buffet, candlelight tea table, child's party table, punch table, supper for eight, and a traditional Christmas table. She is relating each of these tables to some item of decoration in the house, stressing the idea of having a theme throughout the house.

Mrs. W. A. Williams is past president of the Beachcliff Garden club of Rocky River. At present she is secretary of the West Side Garden Center of Cleveland.

As an additional feature of the Christmas meeting, Mrs. John Emde, of Akron, will do a table of Christmas packages; and Mrs. Arthur E. Luedy, of Cleveland, will do arrangements featuring the Christmas rose.

About 26 billion cans for packing food will be made this year in the United States.

James Olivieri Weds Clevelander

Announcement is being made of the marriage of Miss Rose Lupica, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Lupica, 3561 East 131st. S. E., Cleveland, and James Olivieri, son of Mr. and Mrs. Camillo Olivieri, 322 Grace street. Vows were exchanged Nov. 27, by 9 a. m. at the Epiphany church, Cleveland, with Father Gasbarre officiating.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a white satin gown, fashioned with a V-neckline and long full skirt. A crown of orange blossoms held in place the lace fingertip length veil. She carried a bouquet of carnations and two white orchids

Serving as maid of honor was Miss Rose Adornetto and bridesmaids were Miss Lillian Hus, Miss Josephine Consilio and Miss Frances Trovato. Nick Olivieri served a best man and ushers were Sam Lupica and Joseph Valenti.

Attendants for the bride wore taffeta gowns, of like style, and carried bouquets of roses and mums. Miss Adornetto was attired in rose and the bridesmaids in peacock blue.

Following the ceremony a reception was held at Novak's hall. When the newlyweds return from a wedding trip to Washington, D. C., they will reside at the Grace street address.

MRS. JAMES OLIVIERI

Barberton Lady Lost 38 Lbs. Without Dieting

Mrs. K Fish, 379 Van St., Barberton, Ohio writes, "When I started using Rennel I weighed 193 pounds. I now weigh 155 pounds and have lost that sluggish tired out feeling which I had for sometume. Since using Rennel all of my friends praise the difference in my appearance and my sister is also using it since seeing what it has done for me."

Hundreds of others have obtained similar relief from the social and physical discomfort of being overweight Why not try this effective yet inexpensive method of reducing and enjoy the pleasures of feeling younger and more alive. Try Rennel and notice the admiring looks you will receive from your friends as your figure becomes younger and your vitality increases. Just go to your druggist and ask for 4 ounces of liquid Rennel. Pour the contents into a pint bottle—add enough unsweetened grapefruit juice to fill the bottle and then take two tablespoonfuls a day. That's all there is to it. If you aren't satisfied with the results return the empty bottle to the manufacturer and your money will be refunded. You need never know a hungry moment while taking Rennel—no starvation diet—no printed diet list to buy—no vitamins to fortify you against weakness while going hungry, for you WON'T be hungry. Don't be switched to another product. Insist on the genuine Rennel. —Adv.

Candlelight Service Held for Miss Schlupp and Mr. Barber

A CANDLELIGHT SERVICE at St. John's church was the scene of the marriage of Miss Melba Mae Schlupp, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Walter F. Schlupp, 510 Central avenue, to Floyd A. Barber, Grace street, son of Mr. and Mrs. Lewis Barber, of Hamden.

The wedding took place Nov. 26, at 2 p. m., with the Rev. John C. Melchert officiating for the double ring service. Mrs. Helen Heston played a program of nuptial music preceding the ceremony.

Given in marriage by her father the bride wore a white gown of lace and chiffon. The bodice and full sleeves were of lace with a finger tip veil trimmed in lace secured to a pearl tiara. The only jewelry worn by the bride was a matching pearl necklace and earring set, a gift of the groom. She carried a bouquet of white rosebuds and chrysanthemums with a purple orchid center.

Mrs. John Teschler, friend of the bride, served as matron of honor. She wore a blue taffeta gown with a yellow floral hat and matching bouquet of roses and chrysanthemums. The bride's mother wore a black dress and accessories and purple orchid corsage.

John Teschler, friend of the groom, was best man. Walter Melvin Schlupp, brother of the bride, and William Stutz, friend of the groom, acted as ushers.

A reception was held after the wedding at Liberty park pavilion, from 3 to 8:30 p. m. Thirty-five guests were served from a large table centered with a five-tier cake topped with a miniature bride and groom.

The bride attended John Simpson junior high school and is employed at the North American Knitting mill. The groom attended Hamden high school and is presently employed at the Mansfield Tire company. They are residing with the bride's parents at 510 Central avenue.

Shower Given For Couple

Mr. and Mrs. Jack Derror were honored at a nuptial shower at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Fred Derror, 282 Abbeyfeale road. Mrs. Ruth Hiles, mother of the honoree, was the associate hostess.

Mrs. Derror is the former Miss Rosemary Hiles. The couple exchanged vows October 23 in Greenup, Kentucky.

Sixty-five were in attendance for an evening of cards and games. The prizes were presented to the honoree.

A buffet luncheon was served from a table centered with a four tiered wedding cake topped with a miniature bride and bridegroom. Two silver candleholders with yellow and white candles were on each side of the centerpiece. Arrangements of yellow and white mums were placed throughout the house.

MEET TONIGHT

The Women of the Moose will meet tonight at 7:30 for a business meeting at the Moose home.

Beware Coughs From Common Colds That HANG ON

Creomulsion relieves promptly because it goes right to the seat of the trouble to help loosen and expel germ laden phlegm and aid nature to soothe and heal raw, tender, inflamed bronchial mucous membranes. HOROSCOPE

For Thursday, December 2
By GENEVIEVE KEMBLE

ALTHOUGH there may be an indomitable determination to concentrate the energies and resources upon distant goals, or to reach important objectives or promote cherished ambitions by main strength or sheer force of will and effort, there is danger of overdoing, not only in strength and substance but in counting upon promises and false values or co-operation. Some sudden reversal or crash may demand a revamping of plans, a change of tactics and practical policies for long-term realization.

If It Is Your Birthday

Those whose birthday it is, while inclined to marshall all the forces, resources and energies upon the launching of a cherished program for long-range fulfillment and substantial realization, yet the prospects are that a reorganization of plans or a radical change of tactics, brought about by an unforeseen development or the failure of a promise of co-operation, or possibly the running out of funds, may have a sudden climax.

A child born on this day is well equipped with "what it takes" for a progressive career and fulfilled ambitions against sudden crashes or reversals.

150 Vets Hunting Jobs Through OSES Office

There are 500 persons in the Mansfield area hunting jobs through the Ohio State Employment service, a report from the Mansfield OSES office disclosed today.

The number of job-seekers includes 200 women and 150 veterans. There has been virtually no change in the total number of persons looking for openings during the past three months, the report statesd.

Recent layoffs in local factories were due to a lack of orders and to a fire at the Martin Steel Products company, the report said. While about 40 employes laid off in August have been recalled, the others, according to employers, will be out of work until after the first of the year.

During October the demand for unskilled workers made up one-half of all the opportunities for men. Most of the unskilled openings were offers of steady work, a 40-hour week, at $1.00 to $1.38½ an hour.

One-fourth of the openings were for semi-skilled workers at $1.01 to $1.21 an hour, plus incentive earnings. The skilled jobs offered paid from $1.30 to $1.71½ an hour.

Clerical and sales openings paid $37.75 to $55 weekly, plus commissions in some cases.

Openings for porter's jobs are available at the OSES and pay from $1.00 to $1.03½ an hour. A few seasonal and professional positions also are available.

Cut Off Gas To Two Homes

AKRON —(U.P.)— Two Akron families who installed gas furnaces despite the Ohio Public Utilities commission order prohibiting the conversion were without gas Tuesday.

East Ohio Gas company crews cut-off the gas supply at street mains to the homes of Walter Bertschi and George Just here.

E. W. Wagner, East Ohio manager here, said crews were checking "several" other violators also.

Mature Learns He's Tossing Costly Box

HOLLYWOOD— (AP) —Between scenes on Cecil B. DeMille's "Samson and Delilah" Victore Mature amused himself by tossing and catching a gem-encrusted jewel case which he thought came from the property department.

DeMille gave him the eye, but Vic wasn't deterred. Finally DeMille walked over and said, "Please, Mr. Mature, take it easy with that case."

"Why?" asked Mature.

"Because it just happens to come from my private collection. I paid $4,000 for it in Paris."

Mature almost dropped the box then and there.

Divorce Racket Bared

Testimony Says New York Raids Faked

NEW YORK — (INS) — An alleged racket in which "hundreds" of New York divorces were granted illegally was reported broken yesterday on the testimony of a pretty 20-year-old mother of three children who played the "unidentified woman" in fake raids.

Under New York law, adultery is the only grounds for divorce, and "evidence" is necessary to substantiate it.

The woman insisted she received not more that $10 for supposedly being found in compromising situations with married men and that she received as little as $2 for perjuring herself in court. The district attorney said she admitted being involved in 35 cases.

The woman and two men are under arrest and charged with first defree perjury, accused of giving false testimony in divorce cases which fraudulently caused decrees to be granted.

They are Mrs. Sara Ellis; Max Zuckerman, 53, a licensed private detective, and Samuel Schneiderman, 57, who said he was pier guard.

District attorney Frank Hogan said Zuckerman has admitted "flagrant perjury" in "hundreds" of divorce cases.

Disclosure of the case, which threw a cloud of doubtful legality over countless divorces and possible remarriages, came through information supplied to the district attorney by the New York Journal-American.

Both Mrs Ellis and Schneiderman said it was Zuckerman who hired them to commit perjury at $10 per court appearance. Schneiderman testified only a week ago in a Brooklyn court.

Mrs. Ellis told Hogan that Zuckerman taught her how to play the "unidentified woman" by removing only her hat, coat and shoes and pulling the bed covers up to her chin as "raiders" entered to witness alleged adultery.

Hogan explained that witnesses later identified Mrs. Ellis in court.

In some cases, Hogan continued, divorces were granted on the basis of "raids" which never took place.

Mrs. Ellis said "raids" took place in her own apartment, in appartments of men principals in the divorce cases and at hotels and rented rooms

Her husband, Sidney, a building superintendent and part-time chef, "knew all about my work," Mrs. Ellis told the Journal-American. "We talked it over together. But he trusts me, as I trust him."

Quick Relief From Pile Irritation

40 years ago a Buffalo druggist created an ointment to relieve itching, smarting piles. It brought such quick, cooling, soothing, astringent relief that its fame spread across the land making Peterson's Ointment a favorite in thousands of homes. Ask your druggist today for 35c box or 60c applicator tube. Peterson's Ointment delights or money back. —Adv.

Cites Goal Of Health Service

Dr. Wain Speaks To Rotary Club

"Pushing death back and back, until in some future Utopian day people will die only from natural causes at a ripe old age, is the ultimate goal of the public health service," Dr. Harry Wain said yesterday at a luncheon meeting of the Rotary club at the Mansfield-Leland hotel.

Dr. Wain, Mansfield-Richland county health commissioner, is former medical and acting director of the Miami Valley hospital at Dayton.

Dr. Wain distinguished curative medicine from preventative medicine, the latter being the field of public health service.

He said the public health service tries to control the five avenues of disease, which are social contacts, water, milk, food, and insects and animals.

"We try to cure people by not having any disease at all," said Dr. Wain, "and to do this we must build defenses in these five inroads that germs use in attacking us."

Dr. Wain was introduced to Rotary members by Russell G. Clarke, program chairman.

Prowler Chooses Policeman's Home

WARREN, — (AP) — Police Captain John Heinlein was investigating a burglary in a neighbor's house when he spotted someone inside his own house across the street.

With two patrolmen, Heinlein dashed over, but the thief escaped with a fishing tackle box full of war bonds and other papers. The box was found nearby where the burglar dropped it in his haste.

One-Line Editorial Follows Statement

POMEROY —(INS)— The Pomeroy Sentinel carried a one-line editorial today: "It is hoped Canady's fourth resignation is legal and sticks."

The newspaper referred to Balding, ex-prizefighter Delmar "Kid" Canady, who submitted his resignation as mayor—for the fourth time—following his latest feud with other officials.

State, Federal Housing Bills To Be Offered After Jan. 1

Edward R. Friday, executive director of the Mansfield Metropolitan Housing authority, said yesterday plans for housing bills to be presented to Congress and the Ohio state legislature were discussed at a state meeting Monday in Columbus.

The meeting was attended by directors of housing authorities of Ohio's largest cities.

The directors heard a report of Ernest J. Bohn, of the Cleveland authority, who said an effort will be made to pass a federal housing bill when Congress convenes in January.

There also will be attempts to get legislature passed by the state legislature to help relieve the housing shortage, in accordance with ideas presented at the meeting, Friday said.

Bohn told the group that 34 per cent of Cleveland's residents make less than $1,900 a year, and the purpose of housing legislation is to benefit those groups since occupancy is limited to low income groups.

Directors were present from Cleveland, Canton, Zanesville, Cincinnati, Youngstown, Columbus, Lorain and other large Ohio cities, Friday said.

Study Gas Dispute

AKRON—(AP)—A state investigator was expected here today to study a dispute between the East Ohio Gas company and residents who have installed gas furnaces without permits. City Law Director Roy E. Browne said the Public Utilities commission of Ohio would start an informal investigation of the situation that has resulted in all gas supplies being cut off to two families.

Asks Santa Claus to Pass Him Up This Year, Europe Needs It More

NEW YORK—An open letter to Santa Claus:

What do I want for Christmas?

Nothing at all this year, Nick. Yep, that's the whole list—nothing. Nothing at all. Don't even bother to slam on your brakes when the reindeer mush by my chimney. Because I ain't even going to bother to hang up my stocking.

I know this will come as a slight shock to you. It did to me, too. Usually my Christmas list—whether you can fill it or not—is longer than a horse player's face at twilight. But this year it's another story.

It isn't that I have any complaint on the service you've given in the past. And I haven't lost faith in you, Santa, old pal. Me and little Virginia—we'll always believe in you.

It's just that I wore out wanting things I really didn't need. You know that you can want a thing so hard that you finally get so you don't want it. And you not only don't want it, you even may have a dislike for it.

So this year when my Ozark hausfrau said, "Write Santa Claus what you want," I suddenly found myself stumped. For the life of me I couldn't think of anything I wanted. I told her so.

"Why that's impossible," she said. "Everybody wants something for Christmas."

"I wanted something last Christmas," I explained, "and I wanted something every other Christmas I can remember. But this Christmas I don't want anything."

"How about a half dozen nice white shirts?"

"It was three years ago I wanted white shirts," I reminded her. "Now I don't like white shirts."

"How about a new suit?"

"The only suit I want is one with a double breasted coat, vest and two pairs of pants. But they don't make any like that anymore. So I don't want a suit for Christmas."

And so it went, Santa. Everything I thought up to put down on the list—I found, for one reason or another, I no longer wanted. It didn't make sense at all. And yet in another way perhaps it did.

Neckties? Books? Nope. I haven't worn out the books or read all the neckties I got last year. A new car? Nope, again. It's easier to raise a kid in New York than it is to keep an automobile clean and happy.

I got most of the gadgets essential to a civilized life—a ball point fountain pen that won't write, a cigaret lighter that won't light, an unbreakable wrist watch that's being repaired.

What else is there? Don't want a new silk robe or a fancy electric razor. Still have the old red wool robe and the cheap black plastic razor the army gave me five years ago. Still like 'em, too. Still like my old army shoes, for that matter. Guess if there's another war, I'll get another pair free.

Nope, Santa, there's no use in me trying any more. I can't think, to save me, of a single thing I want for Christmas.

I know the stores are chockfull of things this year. But those are the things I wanted last year or some year before that, when they were scarce. I've worn out all those wants—whether or not I got what I wanted—and I haven't yet figured out any new wants to make me miserable.

I guess for the first time in my life, Santa, I'm a balanced man. What I can have I don't pine for—and what I might yearn for I don't know about.

So pass me by this Xmas season, and give my share of the grab bag to somebody in Europe, where people need more than they want, instead of vice versa.

Here, sometimes, it's a full day's job thinking up something to want that you, don't need at all.

Regards to Mrs. Claus.

Hal Boyle.

Revenue Department's Ruling On Amos 'n' Andy Heads For Trouble

The Amos 'n' Andy ruling runs into trouble, says a tax mag. . . . They sold their program to CBS for $2,000,000. They also signed separate employment contracts, continuing the salaries they had previously been receiving. . . . The tax bureau okayed the deal as a sale, says the mag, thereby giving the sellers the benefit of a 25 per cent capital gain. . . . The ruling caused a bandwagon rush in show biz, but the Internal Revenue Bureau has suddenly refused to issue any similar rulings until it re-examines the whole setup.

U. S. Sen. Bridges has also fouled up matters by asking the top tax collector for full particulars regarding the matter. The senator, insiders think, apparently feels the ruling unjustifiably permits conversion of ordinary salary incomes into capital gains.

Clearings Up, Postal Revenue Off

City Bank Figures Near $21,000,000

Mansfield bank clearings in November showed a slight increase over October, but postal receipts dropped slightly under the October total.

Both bank clearings and postal receipts for the first 11 months of this year showed increases over the same period in 1947, and bank and postal figures for November of this year were higher than in November, 1947.

Clearings last month totaled $20,984,270, an increase of $15,677 over October, and an increase of $4,459,543 over November, 1947.

Postal receipts last month were $52,631, a decrease of $730 from the amount recorded in October, but an increase of $6,628 over November, 1947.

UP $37,503,847

Bank clearings for the first 11 months of this year totaled $226,750,924, an increase of $37,503,847 over the same period last year.

Postal receipts showed a similar increase with $529,940 for the first 11 months of this year as compared with $472,337 in the same period of 1947.

Postal receipts for 1948 have showed an average monthly increase of $5,236, with the big month of December still to be recorded.

November marked the 37th consecutive month that postal receipts have shown an increase over the corresponding month of the previous year.

Two Injured In Accidents

A garage mechanic suffered second degree burns on the face yesterday in a fire at Anderson's garage, 30 North Willis avenue, and a Bowman street resident suffered leg bruises when struck by a car at Fourth and Main streets.

Burned when sparks from an emery wheel set fire to a pan of gasoline at the garage was Paul Tolsty, 478 Louise avenue. Central station firemen answered the call to the garage at 2:55 p. m. yesterday. Tolsty was treated by a physician.

George L. Keffalas, 122 Bowman street, suffered bruises of the knees at 10:15 p. m. yesterday when he was knocked to the pavement by a car driven by Paul Earick, Mansfield, R. D. 2. Keffalas was treated by a physician.

Girl Admits Turning In False Alarms

The mystery of who turned in four false fire alarms by telephone during the last week has been cleared up. Fire Chief L. J. Steele announced today.

He said three children had been apprehended and that a 10-year-old girl had admitted calling in the alarms. One false run was made to Glessner avenue on Nov. 23, two were made on Monday and a fourth one yesterday. Two runs were made to Dirlam court.

The chief said the youngsters were reprimanded but that because of their age no further action would be taken.

"The important thing is," the chief said, "that we've caught the persons who have been turning the false alarms and have thus put a stop to it."

Combines School Job With Dance Calling

By NITA BRANSON

"A janitor by day and a dance caller by night," might be the caption for a story on John W. Jones, first floor janitor at Senior high school.

"Jonesy", as he is called at Senior high school, takes the transition in his stride and enjoys every minute of both jobs.

His interest in square dances began when he was 19 and walked 12 miles home from a weekly dance in South Charleston, Clark county.

"I'd take the train with some friends to South Charleston, and dance part time and maybe call a little. Then after the dance we'd start walking home. We'd get there between 2 and 3 a. m," he recalled.

He's been dancing and calling ever since.

"In fact, my whole family likes to dance," he grinned. "I've got a daughter, Roberta, 14 who's a jitterbug wizard. Even my wife likes to dance. We're a dancing family, all seven of us," he added chuckling.

Where did he learn the art of calling?

"Oh I just picked it up," he said. "I'd go to a dance and listen pretty carefully to the caller, then add his call to my list. Guess I've about 100 different calls."

DANCING FAMILY

My son Billy, "spells" me at dance if my wife and I want to dance. When I have to call for some square dance, my whole family goes along and has fun.

While square dancing is Jones's preference, he likes some of the round dances, too, but not the modern ones.

"I like the rye waltz, the circle two-step, or a schottische," he asserted.

Although "Jonesy" danced for years before he came to Mansfield, he really began his calling here at the Delano hall during the depression when money was scarce and a lot of folks square-danced for their fun. Last year he "called" at Marion and began his high school "career" last year when students suddenly decided they wanted a square dance and knew "Jonesy" would help them out.

"They came to my home on the West Fourth Street road, and I taught them the turns and twists and how to follow calls," he said.

Saturday night he called for Senior high students when the 1949 graduating class held a square dance at the school gymnasium.

LEADS SCHOOL DANCE

Dressed in his best, he led dancers in the intricate steps of "Lisa Jane" or "Sally Gooden" or any of the scores of other dance calls he has it his tongue's end.

There's something about "Jonesy's" enthusiasm that just makes you dance, breathlessly, in spite of yourself. Dancers at the gym found that out Saturday night.

In spite of his 46 years "Jonesy" says his legs are just as nimble as they used to be. In fact they're so nimble that he's taken up another hobby that is about as hard on the leg muscles as dancing.

"Now I like to go coon hunting," he said, grinning. "My son and I do a lot of that these days."

But square dancing, he says, is his first love.

HAPPY BIRTHDAY

Practicing dentistry in Mansfield for the past 36 years has kept Dr. W. H. Wolford pretty busy, but tonight he'll take time out from his work to celebrate his birthday at a family dinner at his home. Two of his sons, Dr. Robert W. Wolford, Mansfield physician, and Richard Wolford, of the Wolford funeral home, and his four grandchildren will be home to help him celebrate. A third son, Thomas E. Wolford, is a student at the seminary of Hanna Divinity school, Springfield, and will not be here for the celebration.

WOLFORD

Dr. Wolford was born in Nebraska, spent his boyhood in Crestline, and has been practicing in Mansfield since his graduation from Ohio State university.

He is a member of the First Lutheran church, a past president of Kiwanis club, Richland County TB association, and the Ohio Dental association. He lives at 824 Park avenue west.

BUBBLING OVER

The water department was "bubbling over" with excitement this morning. Someone called Fred E. Lingafelter, secretary of the department, to inform him that a truck had hit a curb box on Bernard avenue and that water was gushing over the street. Lingafelter tried to reach O. C. Kalbfleisch, water superintendent. Meanwhile Kalbfleisch happened on the scene accidentally and found out that one of his crews was cleaning out a water line. When Kalbfleisch got to the city building, Lingafelter was informed that the "trouble" had been cleared up.

Richland Payments High

Checks Average $306 Each

Richland county veterans or their next of kin have collected a total of $2,105,703 on state bonus claims, a report from the state World War II compensation fund disclosed today.

So far 6,863 Richland countians have been paid an average of $306.82 each in state bonus money. Of those 4,947 claims were for army veterans who collected $1,561,133, and 1,916 were for veterans of navy service who collected $544,570.

The average amount per claim was higher for Richland county than for any of the surrounding counties. Morrow county claims totaled $251,681, or an average of $294.65 per claim. Ashland county claims totaled $717,686, averaging $301.68 each. Crawford countians collected $889,922, an average of $304.98.

Veterans in other counties collected the following amounts:

Holmes—$240,409, an average of $301.27 per claim; Huron—$866,551 with $304.80 for the average claim; Knox—$727,534, with the average claim amounting to $303.77.

602,946 GET FUNDS

The average Richland county claim was lower than the average claim taken on a statewide basis, however. An average of $311 was paid to 602,946 living veterans and an average of $383 paid per veteran to the next of kin of 6,167 deceased Ohio veterans in approximately seven months.

A total of $189,716,884 has been paid to 611,776 applicants in Ohio since April 28, 1948 when the bonus first went into effect.

All claims, both from living veterans and next of kin of deceased veterans, are paid soon after the eligibility can be determined, C. W. Goble, director of the compensation fund, said.

Current applications, some 105,000 irregular claims from living veterans, some 15,100 next-of-kin claims, and 7,300 approved claims in check-writing remain to be settled, he said.

Youth, 17, Sent to OSR In Olivesburg Burglary

Probate Judge Stuart H. Cramer yesterday sentenced James William Burkhalter, 17, Willard, R. D. 2, to the Mansfield reformatory for burglary of the Trading Post at Olivesburg. The youth was given an indeterminate sentence.

He was found guilty of taking six guns and two flashlights valued at $169.

Authorities said the youth implicated Homer Brown, 23, of Shiloh, who is being held in Morehead, Ky., on a charge of flourishing a deadly weapon.

In a sworn statement, Burkhalter said he met Brown at a Shelby tavern and, after stealing a car, they went to the Trading Post together to get some guns. In Olivesburg they stole another car and returned to Shelby, the statement said.

Burkhalter was sent to the Lancaster Industrial school May 5, 1946 for stealing a car, he said.

The youth's statement declares further:

"On Sept. 10, 1948 I was put in the Willard city jail as a result of having trouble at my home and destroying some property there. I broke out after being in there about two hours by breaking loose some bars. They never did anything more about that."

In another juvenile court hearing yesterday afternoon, Judge Cramer suspended the drivers license of a 16-year-old Shiloh youth for 90 days for unsafe operation.
